Hoffa Will Try To Get Back In AFL-CIO Fold

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa, the tough little giant of the labor world, is looking toward a new try at bringing his Teamsters Union back into the fold of the AFL-CIO next month.

But labor sources say his chances this year remain about the same as they have been since the Teamsters were ousted from the AFL-CIO on corruption charges in 1957—zero.

The conditions set by AFL-CIO President George Meany for the return of the Teamsters are unchanged:

1. Getting rid of Hoffa as president of the Teamsters — the world's largest union with about 1.7 million members.

2. Assurances that the controversial Teamsters will live up to the constitution of the AFL-CIO.

Hoffa, who said in Detroit earlier this week that "it is only a matter of time until the Teamsters are back in the AFL-CIO," apparently won't personally lead the new attempt at re-entry at the AFL-CIO convention in New York beginning Nov. 14

It will come through resolutions presented by the Michigan State Building and Construction Trades Council at the AFL-CIO Building Trades meeting Nov. 6, prior to the main convention.

Building and construction trades sources predict such a resolution would not get enough support to get to the floor of the AFL-CIO convention the following week.

There are other ways in which a pro-Teamsters resolution could get to before the main convention, but one well-placed source said "as long as Meany is president of the AFL-CIO and Hoffa is President of the Teamsters, he (Hoffa) won't get back in."

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy was back with her family in the White House today after a 15-day vacation in the Mediterranean.

The President and the children, Caroline and John Jr., met her at the airport Thursday night with broad smiles and a present Caroline had made for her in school—a clay bird's nest.

And Mrs. Kennedy brought a dozen Dior neckties from Paris for her husband.

The First Lady, who had visited Greece, Turkey and Morocco, arrived in New York aboard a commercial plane then flew to Washington on the family plane, Caroline.

Romney's Bills Are Dumped On Senate Calendar

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's "jobs and justice" program today awaited Senate floor action after being jarred loose from committee by a Democrat determined to "get fiscal reform moving now."

Senate minority leader Charles Blondy of Detroit engineered the unprecedented dumping of all legislation before the Senate taxation committee onto next Monday's Senate calendar.

It was the first break in weeks of stalemate over Romney's program, and it sent 61 unamended bills out of the six-man committee.

Chairman Clyde Geerlings, R-Holland, scolded the committee for "making a grave mistake. God help us if we ever have a legislature without committees." He saw the maneuver as an affront to the committee system.

Senate majority leader Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor, the Republican governor's chief legislative spokesman, hailed the move as "a great step forward.

"Remember, it took three Republican votes to do it," Thayer said. The three, who voted with Blondy, are William Milliken of Traverse City, Farrell Roberts of Pontiac, and Emil Lockwood of St. Louis.

Milliken, a Republican floor leader, said after the bills were released that "this was our one single objective in committee."

Earlier Thursday, Milliken and Roberts had stalled Blondy's motion, saying they were sympathetic ot the idea but felt it premature.

In the after - lunch session, Blondy doggedly fought off attempts to approve amendments which had been brought in by Romney's legal aide, Richard Van Dusen.

"These amendments can be put on out on the Senate floor," Blondy insisted. "This is just another move for more delay."

Milliken and Roberts argued the amendments mostly were technical and that the committee had a duty to release the bills in good order.

The vote was held up for the arrival of committeeman Stanley Rozycki, D - Detroit, who, before learning of Blondy's move, had not planned to attend Thursday's sessions.

Rozycki appeared astounded at the motion and said it amounted to discharging a committee, a device used only once in the past half - century whereby the Senate can yank bills from an inactive committee.

Roosevelt Out For Tax Slash

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. lobbied hard among the top brass of American industry today for support of the administration's tax reduction bill.

He told them enactment of the measure would boom their profits, slash their taxes, increase their sales and put idle plants to work.

Spliced into this glowing sales pitch was this note of warning: The present business expansion has flowered for 30 months and "it is only reasonable to prepare ourselves to cope with the possibility of weakening conditions."

The mixed trends of some of the latest indicators of business activity have "alerted us to be on guard and to take steps to strengthen our defense against recession," Roosevelt said in an address prepared for delivery to the fall meeting of the Business Council.

In all this Roosevelt hewed closely to the administration line: If the tax bill now before the Senate Finance Committee is passed, business will expand. If it is not, a possible defense against recession will have been lost.

Gathered here for the council meeting are the heads of about 100 of the country's largest corporations. Many of these industrialists already are on the administration's tax cut team.

New Chancellor Makes Bid For German Unity

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard bid for reunification of Germany today by urging the Big Four powers that defeated Hitler to work jointly on German affairs until a final peace treaty is signed.

This would amount to revival of conferences that the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France held regularly for a time after World War II.

While expressing firm support of the North Atlantic Alliance, Erhard warned he would not accept any measure that "sanctions or consolidates the unnatural division of our country."

Erhard addressed Parliament on foreign and domestic policy. It was his first speech since he took over the chancellorship from Konrad Adenauer Wednesday.

"We are told that the division of our country is a reality which has to be accepted," Erhard said. "Of course it is a reality, but it is an unbearable one."

Erhard said any new agreement on Berlin must be based on the right of the Western powers to be in the divided city, respect for the will of Berliners and maintenance of free access to Berlin. Like Adenauer, he rejected the Soviet proposals for making West Berlin a demilitarized "free city."

Only 40 Pupils Left Of 300 In Flood Disaster

LONGARONE, Italy (AP) — The school bell rang again Thursday in the town of Longarone, wiped out in the Vaiont Dam disaster last Wednesday.

Only 40 pupils showed up — the survivors of 300 children who last week had gone to school here.

The classes were resumed in City Hall, one of the few buildings not washed away in the flood that took up to 3,000 lives.

New Astronauts On Moon Team

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. space team for two-man rendezvous missions and three-man moon shots was to be increased today with the selection of 10 to 16 new astronauts.

Informed sources identified three potential members of the group in advance, but the Manned Spacecraft Center said strict secrecy on names would be maintained until the afternoon news conference announcement.

Two of the three arrived Thursday night but declined comment as they stepped from a commercial jet plane from Los Angeles.

They are Capt. Charles A. Bassett, 30, and Theodore C. Freeman, 33. Both are from Edwards Air Force Base, an advanced pilot training installation that supplied nine of the 16 astronauts selected in 1959 and last year.

They were met at Houston's International Airport by a spacecraft center security guard. This is a courtesy normally accorded only astronauts and Washington dignitaries.

Informed sources also indicated another Edwards pilot, Capt. David R. Scott, 30, had been added to the space team. Scott was known to have spent Thursday with San Antonio relatives but was unavailable for comment.

The ages of Scott and Bassett strengthened speculation the third group of astronauts would be the youngest, averaging about 30 years. The 271 applicants for the group had to be no older than 34 as of June 30.

Nine men selected last year averaged 32.5 years. The seven Mercury astronauts averaged 34.5 years in 1959.

The Mercury group pioneered the U.S. manned space program with solo flights that were terminated with the 22-orbit mission May 15-16 by Maj. Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr.

Japanese Urged To Accept Visits Of U. S. U-Boats

TOKYO (AP)—Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira urged the Japanese people today to accept visits of U.S. nuclear submarines.

Scheduled recreation visits by the nuclear subs have resulted in mass protest demonstrations, most of them led by Communist and antinuclear groups.

"Port calls of nuclear submarines do not mean the bringing into Japan of a nuclear weapon or in any way relate to the possible bringing in of nuclear weapons in the future," Ohira told the new session of the Diet (Parliament) in a foreign policy speech.

More States Act To Avert Fires In Dry Forests

CHICAGO (AP)—Emergency measures aimed at curtailing the fast-spreading fires across many of the nation's parched forest lands have been taken by more states.

As autumn's severe drought continued, the fire situation, mainly in the Northeast and in sections of the Midwest and South, was critical in many areas.

There appeared no general break immediately in the prolonged dry and unseasonably mild weather. Property and crop damage mounted into the millions of dollars.

Closed To Public

Forest fires have been reported in more than a dozen states.

In the East, Massachusetts and Connecticut joined New Hampshire and Vermont in ordering woodlands and brushlands closed to the public because of the dry conditions and the outbreak of scores of fires.

All state forest and park lands in Pennsylvania have been ordered closed to public use of any type, effective at noon today.

The fire danger in York County, Maine, was classified as explosive—the highest rating—and other parts of southern Maine were described as very dangerous. A ban on smoking and open fires remained in effect in southern sections, about 10 per cent of Maine.

In the Midwest, several state forests have been closed in Illinois. In Missouri, there was a ban on all picnic and camp fires in all state parks.

The Kentucky State Forestry Division director plans to ask for the closing of all state forests because of the serious fire threat. The Division reported 36 fires which burned nearly 900 acres in 30 counties Thursday.

Set By Arsonists

Michigan also has acted, banning fires in forests, fields and woodlands.

In New Hampshire, William Messeck, director of the division of resources, said the state is on the brink of a major fire unless there is heavy rainfall.

The closing of woodlands in Connecticut delayed the state's upland game and duck hunting season.

Officials in New York State, New England and Arkansas said there were definite indications that arsonsists set some of the fires in the woodlands.

New Jersey state officials who have halted all open fires within 200 feet of state woodlands, considered halting hunting and fishing in the state which has not had measurable rainfall for nearly three weeks. Fire blackened about 1,000 acores of the Norvin Green State Forest before it was brought under control.

The drought has seriously curtailed water supplies in many areas, cut hay and other crops, lowered milk production and increased the prices of livestock feed.

Farmers Haul Water

Drought conditions prevail in most of Texas. Brown County farmers in south central Texas and dairymen in Dallas County asked the Department of Agriculture Thursday to sell eligible farmers grain at a cut-rate price and for permission to graze cattle on soil bank land.

Agriculture officials in Tennessee said the drought in parts of the state had the greatest effect on grass for cattle, rather than crops. Farmers said spring-planted crops were in excellent condition but rain was needed for fall-planted crops.

Dairy farmers in northeast Ohio have been hit hard, with withered pastures and shortages or lack of water. Many families in Ashtabula County are having water hauled to dried wells at a cost of $8 to $12 a load, with loads ranging from 1,000 to 1,500 gallons.

Erhard Erases Ban On Smoking In His Cabinet

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's new chancellor, Ludwig Erhard, is smashing tradition already.

At the first Cabinet meeting under Erhard, the ministers were allowed to smoke.

Ex-Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a non-smoker, frowned on anyone using tobacco in his presence. Smokers at Cabinet meetings did without during his 14 years in office.

Erhard is a heavy consumer of cigars.

Exile 'Buildup' Against Castro Is Mostly Vocal

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) —The next flareup in Latin America may be among Cuban exiles fighting to see who'll lead the war against Fidel Castro.

The reason: Too many chiefs, not enough Indians.

This is an impression gathered by this reporter on a four-week, 1,000-mile inquiry into reports of a new military buildup to bring down the Castro regime.

There is no firm evidence in support of these reports.

A quick, tempting conclusion is that the biggest "buildup"—all vocal—is in Miami, Fla., among the Flagler street commandos who've been charting Castro's downfall for more than three years.

Training Bases Handy

Central America, however, is a big and inviting site for anti-Castro training bases. Its 174,000 nearly deserted square miles—bigger than California—could provide cover for most of Latin-America's armed forces.

And within its five-nation group—Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, and Costa Rica — are four governments which probably would welcome a chance to provide the launching pad for a new offensive against Castro. Costa Rica is the exception.

A curious aspect of the Central American scene is sharp evidence among most people of more resentment, and even hostility, toward their own governments than toward Castro. This is one of the most backward areas of Latin America.

"What? Somoza helping liberate Cuba?" exclaimed a Nicaraguan doctor wryly. "Why doesn't he liberate his country first?"

Sabotage Planned

The reference was to Luis Somoza, Nicaragua's ex-president and one of two heirs to the Somoza dynasty that has ruled that country 30 years.

Somoza has injected himself into the anti-Castro ranks through a close association with Manuel Artime, political leader of the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion.

Somoza says he is helping Artime and the Miami-based Cuban Liberation Committee rally all exiles behind a single standard to prepare and deliver—with the help of experts—small but effective sabotage and harassment stabs at Castro within Cuba.

The final objective, he says, will be an all-out offensive in November to establish a beachhead and provisional government that would seek quick hemisphere recognition.

The new exile raiders are being trained into tiny battle groups of two or more, according to Somoza. He emphasized training was not being carried out in Nicaragua, but "elsewhere in Latin America and some in the United States without the knowledge of the American government."

Peronists Stir Up Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Police Thursday night fired shots and tear gas to disperse a Peronist crowd of 60,000 to 100,000 that marched on the National Congress after hearing a recorded speech by former dictator Juan Peron.

The dictator, living in exile in Spain, had urged his followers to reorganize and "build a stronger Argentina."

"Never has unity been needed among the Peronists as it is today," he said in the speech to a rally apparently aimed at pressuring the government into lifting its ban on the Peronist party.

After the rally, the crowd began marching toward the Congress Building 10 blocks away, chanting "Peron! Peron!"

Two blocks from the Congress, they were met by police units who opened fire and waded into the crowd with rubber truncheons.

The marchers fled after only scattered resistance, but several persons were injured.

Clash In Athens

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Screaming left-wing demonstrators clashed with police in central Athens Thursday night. Sixty persons, including 24 police, were reported injured.

The clash occurred during the opening of campaign center of the Communist - front Union Democratic Left party. A new Parliament is to be elected Nov. 3.

Mother Rescues Daughter, 3, In Septic Tank

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A mother ran into her yard in time to see her 3-year-old daughter disappear into a hole. A septic tank had caved in beneath the child.

Mary King pulled her daughter, Charlene, from the hole unharmed Wednesday. She credited Charlene's 4-year-old playmate, Yvonne Burton, with saving the child's life.

"Yvonne came running to me and said, 'Charlene in hole,' " Mrs. King said. "I ran to the septic tank and I saw just the tips of Charlene's fingers. Then they disappeared.

"I lay down on my stomach and started groping around in the hole until I felt her shoulder. I thank God that I had enough strength to pull her out."

Ship For Burma Capsizes In Test On Danube River

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A ship built for Burma was sent on a trial run Thursday. Speeding down the Danube, it suddenly changed course and capsized, spilling most of the 35 persons aboard. Five were missing and presumed drowned.

Fishermen rescued many in the icy river. Others trapped in the boat were freed by crews who cut through the steel hull.

Among the missing was a Khin Maung Nyunt, third secretary of the Burmese Embassy in Belgrade.

Scottish Peer Gets Support Of Macmillian

LONDON (AP)—Lord Home was named today to be Britain's new prime minister—the man who must try to carry the Conservative party to victory in elections within the next year.

The soft-spoken but incisive foreign secretary, 60, was appointed by Queen Elizabeth II to be her first minister at the urging of retiring Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The choice of the Scottish peer, who advocates a firm but realistic policy toward the Soviet Union, came despite a midnight rebellion within the Tory party. A large segment of Macmillan's own Cabinet fought to the last to block Home's appointment and win the post for Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler, now thwarted for the second time. Macmillan edged him out in 1957.

Will Give Up Title

Resentment centered on Macmillan's decision to pass over Conservative leaders in the House of Commons and select a member of the House of Lords. Home (pronounced hume) is expected to relinquish his title promptly and seek a seat in the House of Commons in a special election.

Butler leads the liberal wing of the Conservative party. His supporters felt he gave the party a more modern image that was needed for the difficult struggle with the resurgent Labor party in the next general election, to be held by the fall of 1964.

Home himself had kept clear of the power struggle over the past few days. Friends said he was reluctant to shed his title in order to take over the government.

But Home was all smiles when he drove to Buckingham Palace to see Queen Elizabeth II.

Well Known To U.S.

Crowds gathered outside the palace knew at once that the struggle inside the party was over and that Home would become the next prime minister.

"It's Lord Home! It's Lord home!" came the cry as his car rolled into the palace courtyard. Shortly thereafter came confirmation from Buckingham Palace:

"The Queen has received the Earl of Home in audience and invited him to form an administration."

Although the selection of Home may leave scars on the Conservative party, Macmillan had chosen a man he could trust in the critical field of foreign affairs — and a man well known to Britain's chief ally, the United States.

Home has served Macmillan as foreign secretary since July 1960. He acquired prestige through his efforts to ease East-West tension without surrendering vital Western interests to the Soviet Union.

Party Unity Is Goal

Macmillan had stunned an important meeting of the Conservative party Oct. 8 by announcing that he was entering a hospital. Butler took over as deputy prime minister.

After a successful operation for removal an enlarged prostate gland Oct. 10, Macmillan announced he would have to resign. Then the struggle over the prime minister succession began in earnest.

The last hour of the struggle began just before midnight. Word leaked out from Macmillan's sick room that he had decided to resign today and his choice as successor was Home.

Apparently, it was thought that the late - hour decision would head off a last-minute revolt. It didn't. Informed sources said Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling and Iain Macleod, Conservative floor leader in the House of Commons, led the battle for Butler.

The choice for the succcession, however, is essentially that of the outgoing prime minister, and there was no budging the sick man in King Edward VII Hospital.

Macmillan was reported to have decided on Home because he believed Home could do

Only 40 pupils showed up — the survivors of 300 children who last week had gone to school here.

The classes were resumed in City Hall, one of the few buildings not washed away in the flood that took up to 3,000 lives.

New Astronauts On Moon Team

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. space team for two-man rendezvous missions and three-man moon shots was to be increased today with the selection of 10 to 16 new astronauts.

Informed sources identified three potential members of the group in advance, but the Manned Spacecraft Center said strict secrecy on names would be maintained until the afternoon news conference announcement.

Two of the three arrived Thursday night but declined comment as they stepped from a commercial jet plane from Los Angeles.

They are Capt. Charles A. Bassett, 30, and Theodore C. Freeman, 33. Both are from Edwards Air Force Base, an advanced pilot training installation that supplied nine of the 16 astronauts selected in 1959 and last year.

They were met at Houston's International Airport by a spacecraft center security guard. This is a courtesy normally accorded only astronauts and Washington dignitaries.

Informed sources also indicated another Edwards pilot, Capt. David R. Scott, 30, had been added to the space team. Scott was known to have spent Thursday with San Antonio relatives but was unavailable for comment.

The ages of Scott and Bassett strengthened speculation the third group of astronauts would be the youngest, averaging about 30 years. The 271 applicants for the group had to be no older than 34 as of June 30.

Nine men selected last year averaged 32.5 years. The seven Mercury astronauts averaged 34.5 years in 1959.

The Mercury group pioneered the U.S. manned space program with solo flights that were terminated with the 22-orbit mission May 15-16 by Maj. Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr.

More States Act To Avert Fires In Dry Forests

CHICAGO (AP)—Emergency measures aimed at curtailing the fast-spreading fires across many of the nation's parched forest lands have been taken by more states.

As autumn's severe drought continued, the fire situation, mainly in the Northeast and in sections of the Midwest and South, was critical in many areas.

There appeared no general break immediately in the prolonged dry and unseasonably mild weather. Property and crop damage mounted into the millions of dollars.

Closed To Public

Forest fires have been reported in more than a dozen states.

In the East, Massachusetts and Connecticut joined New Hampshire and Vermont in ordering woodlands and brushlands closed to the public because of the dry conditions and the outbreak of scores of fires.

All state forest and park lands in Pennsylvania have been ordered closed to public use of any type, effective at noon today.

The fire danger in York County, Maine, was classified as explosive—the highest rating—and other parts of southern Maine were described as very dangerous. A ban on smoking and open fires remained in effect in southern sections, about 10 per cent of Maine.

In the Midwest, several state forests have been closed in Illinois. In Missouri, there was a ban on all picnic and camp fires in all state parks.

The Kentucky State Forestry Division director plans to ask for the closing of all state forests because of the serious fire threat. The Division reported 36 fires which burned nearly 900 acres in 30 counties Thursday.

Set By Arsonists

Michigan also has acted, banning fires in forests, fields and woodlands.

In New Hampshire, William Messeck, director of the division of resources, said the state is on the brink of a major fire unless there is heavy rainfall.

The closing of woodlands in Connecticut delayed the state's upland game and duck hunting season.

Officials in New York State, New England and Arkansas said there were definite indications that arsonsists set some of the fires in the woodlands.

New Jersey state officials who have halted all open fires within 200 feet of state woodlands, considered halting hunting and fishing in the state which has not had measurable rainfall for nearly three weeks. Fire blackened about 1,000 acores of the Norvin Green State Forest before it was brought under control.

The drought has seriously curtailed water supplies in many areas, cut hay and other crops, lowered milk production and increased the prices of livestock feed.

Farmers Haul Water

Drought conditions prevail in most of Texas. Brown County farmers in south central Texas and dairymen in Dallas County asked the Department of Agriculture Thursday to sell eligible farmers grain at a cut-rate price and for permission to graze cattle on soil bank land.

Agriculture officials in Tennessee said the drought in parts of the state had the greatest effect on grass for cattle, rather than crops. Farmers said spring-planted crops were in excellent condition but rain was needed for fall-planted crops.

Dairy farmers in northeast Ohio have been hit hard, with withered pastures and shortages or lack of water. Many families in Ashtabula County are having water hauled to dried wells at a cost of $8 to $12 a load, with loads ranging from 1,000 to 1,500 gallons.

Erhard Erases Ban On Smoking In His Cabinet

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's new chancellor, Ludwig Erhard, is smashing tradition already.

At the first Cabinet meeting under Erhard, the ministers were allowed to smoke.

Ex-Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a non-smoker, frowned on anyone using tobacco in his presence. Smokers at Cabinet meetings did without during his 14 years in office.

Erhard is a heavy consumer of cigars.

Exile 'Buildup' Against Castro Is Mostly Vocal

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) —The next flareup in Latin America may be among Cuban exiles fighting to see who'll lead the war against Fidel Castro.

The reason: Too many chiefs, not enough Indians.

This is an impression gathered by this reporter on a four-week, 1,000-mile inquiry into reports of a new military buildup to bring down the Castro regime.

There is no firm evidence in support of these reports.

A quick, tempting conclusion is that the biggest "buildup"—all vocal—is in Miami, Fla., among the Flagler street commandos who've been charting Castro's downfall for more than three years.

Training Bases Handy

Central America, however, is a big and inviting site for anti-Castro training bases. Its 174,000 nearly deserted square miles—bigger than California—could provide cover for most of Latin-America's armed forces.

And within its five-nation group—Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, and Costa Rica — are four governments which probably would welcome a chance to provide the launching pad for a new offensive against Castro. Costa Rica is the exception.

A curious aspect of the Central American scene is sharp evidence among most people of more resentment, and even hostility, toward their own governments than toward Castro. This is one of the most backward areas of Latin America.

"What? Somoza helping liberate Cuba?" exclaimed a Nicaraguan doctor wryly. "Why doesn't he liberate his country first?"

Sabotage Planned

The reference was to Luis Somoza, Nicaragua's ex-president and one of two heirs to the Somoza dynasty that has ruled that country 30 years.

Somoza has injected himself into the anti-Castro ranks through a close association with Manuel Artime, political leader of the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion.

Somoza says he is helping Artime and the Miami-based Cuban Liberation Committee rally all exiles behind a single standard to prepare and deliver—with the help of experts—small but effective sabotage and harassment stabs at Castro within Cuba.

The final objective, he says, will be an all-out offensive in November to establish a beachhead and provisional government that would seek quick hemisphere recognition.

The new exile raiders are being trained into tiny battle groups of two or more, according to Somoza. He emphasized training was not being carried out in Nicaragua, but "elsewhere in Latin America and some in the United States without the knowledge of the American government."

Peronists Stir Up Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Police Thursday night fired shots and tear gas to disperse a Peronist crowd of 60,000 to 100,000 that marched on the National Congress after hearing a recorded speech by former dictator Juan Peron.

The dictator, living in exile in Spain, had urged his followers to reorganize and "build a stronger Argentina."

"Never has unity been needed among the Peronists as it is today," he said in the speech to a rally apparently aimed at pressuring the government into lifting its ban on the Peronist party.

After the rally, the crowd began marching toward the Congress Building 10 blocks away, chanting "Peron! Peron!"

Two blocks from the Congress, they were met by police units who opened fire and waded into the crowd with rubber truncheons.

The marchers fled after only scattered resistance, but several persons were injured.

Clash In Athens

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Screaming left-wing demonstrators clashed with police in central Athens Thursday night. Sixty persons, including 24 police, were reported injured.

The clash occurred during the opening of campaign center of the Communist - front Union Democratic Left party. A new Parliament is to be elected Nov. 3.

Scottish Peer Gets Support Of Macmillian

LONDON (AP)—Lord Home was named today to be Britain's new prime minister—the man who must try to carry the Conservative party to victory in elections within the next year.

The soft-spoken but incisive foreign secretary, 60, was appointed by Queen Elizabeth II to be her first minister at the urging of retiring Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The choice of the Scottish peer, who advocates a firm but realistic policy toward the Soviet Union, came despite a midnight rebellion within the Tory party. A large segment of Macmillan's own Cabinet fought to the last to block Home's appointment and win the post for Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler, now thwarted for the second time. Macmillan edged him out in 1957.

Will Give Up Title

Resentment centered on Macmillan's decision to pass over Conservative leaders in the House of Commons and select a member of the House of Lords. Home (pronounced hume) is expected to relinquish his title promptly and seek a seat in the House of Commons in a special election.

Butler leads the liberal wing of the Conservative party. His supporters felt he gave the party a more modern image that was needed for the difficult struggle with the resurgent Labor party in the next general election, to be held by the fall of 1964.

Home himself had kept clear of the power struggle over the past few days. Friends said he was reluctant to shed his title in order to take over the government.

But Home was all smiles when he drove to Buckingham Palace to see Queen Elizabeth II.

Well Known To U.S.

Crowds gathered outside the palace knew at once that the struggle inside the party was over and that Home would become the next prime minister.

"It's Lord Home! It's Lord home!" came the cry as his car rolled into the palace courtyard. Shortly thereafter came confirmation from Buckingham Palace:

"The Queen has received the Earl of Home in audience and invited him to form an administration."

Although the selection of Home may leave scars on the Conservative party, Macmillan had chosen a man he could trust in the critical field of foreign affairs — and a man well known to Britain's chief ally, the United States.

Home has served Macmillan as foreign secretary since July 1960. He acquired prestige through his efforts to ease East-West tension without surrendering vital Western interests to the Soviet Union.

Party Unity Is Goal

Macmillan had stunned an important meeting of the Conservative party Oct. 8 by announcing that he was entering a hospital. Butler took over as deputy prime minister.

After a successful operation for removal an enlarged prostate gland Oct. 10, Macmillan announced he would have to resign. Then the struggle over the prime minister succession began in earnest.

The last hour of the struggle began just before midnight. Word leaked out from Macmillan's sick room that he had decided to resign today and his choice as successor was Home.

Apparently, it was thought that the late - hour decision would head off a last-minute revolt. It didn't. Informed sources said Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling and Iain Macleod, Conservative floor leader in the House of Commons, led the battle for Butler.

The choice for the succession, however, is essentially that of the outgoing prime minister, and there was no budging the sick man in King Edward VII Hospital.

Macmillan was reported to have decided on Home because he believed Home could do

Mother Rescues Daughter, 3, In Septic Tank

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A mother ran into her yard in time to see her 3-year-old daughter disappear into a hole. A septic tank had caved in beneath the child.

Mary King pulled her daughter, Charlene, from the hole unharmed Wednesday. She credited Charlene's 4-year-old playmate, Yvonne Burton, with saving the child's life.

"Yvonne came running to me and said, 'Charlene in hole,' " Mrs. King said. "I ran to the septic tank and I saw just the tips of Charlene's fingers. Then they disappeared.

"I lay down on my stomach and started groping around in the hole until I felt her shoulder. I thank God that I had enough strength to pull her out."

Ship For Burma Capsizes In Test On Danube River

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A ship built for Burma was sent on a trial run Thursday. Speeding down the Danube, it suddenly changed course and capsized, spilling most of the 35 persons aboard. Five were missing and presumed drowned.

Fishermen rescued many in the icy river. Others trapped in the boat were freed by crews who cut through the steel hull.

Among the missing was a Khin Maung Nyunt, third secretary of the Burmese Embassy in Belgrade.

Stein Memorial Gift Great Aid To School Fund

Project Pride Inc., thanked the donors of a $2,000 memorial gift to the Delta County School for Retarded Children on Thursday noon at a luncheon at Marco's.

President Walter Arntzen of Project Pride said "This is a wonderful gesture which is greatly appreciated. We are very sympathetic because of the circumstances which prompted the memorial and will perpetuate the name of the honoree with a substantial plaque at the new school."

He was speaking to Daniel L. Stein of the Leader Store who had just presented a check to Project Pride for the memorial gift to the Delta County Chapter, Michigan Association for Retarded Children. The gift was from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Stein, 700 S. 14th St., in memory of their late daughter, Mrs. Edith Stein Fineman of Escanaba, who with her husband, Benjamin, Fineman, lost their lives in an airliner disaster on March 17, 1960.

The Finemans were childless and her brother told the Project Pride members that his sister would have approved the memorial as fitting her own sympathies.

Daniel Stein said the gift was one of several memorials to his late sister and appealing to the family because the school planned to help children who couldn't help themselves. He said his inquiries had convinced him that the school would become part of the responsibility of the public school system, assuring its perpetuation.

John A. Lemmer moved, with support by Mel Oslund, that Project Pride adopt a resolution of gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Stein for the memorial gift. Walter Arntzen said it was particularly helpful in this stage of the school building construction as the building trade contractors who compose most of Project Pride's membership were up against "tremendous problems." School building standards require much masonry work and place too heavy a demand upon the volunteer efforts of the community's masons, he said, to expect completion of all the work in this skill on a gift basis.

"Through your help," said Arntzen "we're going to be smelling like roses on this fine project. The building looks good and we're about ready to set the steel. Erling Arntzen plans to place the joists and set the roof deck on Saturday and Charlie Neumeier will go in to put the roof on."

Pair Injured In Accident

Two downstate women sustained injuries when their car collided with a dump truck on U. S. 2-41, near the Escanaba Livestock Auction, at 11:55 a. m. Thursday.

Georgine Mae Hall, 26, of Ann Arbor, suffered a fractured left forearm, a deep laceration to the lip and bruises. Her sister, Judy Hall, 22, of Farmington, suffered only bruises. Both were treated at St. Francis Hospital and released.

According to State Police, the Hall vehicle was traveling south on U. S. 2-41 behind a dump truck driven by Theodore Wetton, 57, of Hancock. They said that about the same time Miss Hall began to overtake the dump truck to pass Wetton made a left-hand turn from the right lane and the Hall car struck the rear of the Wetton truck.

Wetton was ticketed for making an improper turn from the wrong lane.

Changes Voted For Catholics

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council voted qualified approval today to changes in the Roman Catholic sacraments, such as baptism, penance and matrimony.

The changes will permit use of modern languages in the rites and will give extreme unction a new name, "anointing of the sick."

Proponents say such changes will make the sacraments mean more to Catholics.

The council fathers — cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops, bishops and other prelates from around the world—voted for the changes in approving the third chapter of a council schema on liturgy, or public worship.

Only 30 of 2,214 prelates voted against the chapter. But outright approval came from just 1,130. The other 1,054 gave approval but with reservations.

The result was that the chapter failed to get a definite two-thirds majority of 1,477.

The council already had approved 10 amendments to the chapter, one by one, by overwhelming majorities earlier in the week.

But the suggestions made by those who voted approval with reservations — "placet juxta modem"—now must go to the liturgy commission for further work and amendments.

The council then must approve the amendments, but no new vote is needed on the full chapter, which is regarded as approved.

A third majority vote of "placet" and "placet juxta modem" approves a chapter.

Jet Fighters Going To India

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

INDIA: The Air Force will send 18 supersonic F100 jet fighters and about 600 support personnel to India next month to join with British and Australian forces in a test of the Asian country's air defenses.

The exercise will center on the radar warning system that has been set up to guard against possible air attacks from Communist China.

PROTEST: New York's two U.S. senators, Republicans Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, have accused Atty Gen. Robert F. Kennedy of retreating on civil rights legislation.

The attorney general is arguing "we've got to retreat on account of the Republicans," Javits said in a Senate speech Thursday. "I deny that emphatically."

Javits centered his fire on the move within the House Judiciary Committee to narrow a subcommittee proposal to give the attorney general wider power to sue to protect civil rights.

MENTAL HEALTH: Congressional conferees have settled on $329 million as the amount of federal funds to be authorized for an attack on the problems of mental illness and retardation.

The money would help build new community health centers, conduct research into the causes of mental retardation and care for the mentally retarded.

The Senate originally passed an $850 million measure, while the House authorized $238 million. To get agreement, Senate conferees had to drop the most costly item in the Senate bill—a $427-million allotment to help staff the community centers.

VISIT: President Kennedy plans to spend some time Sunday with his ailing father, Joseph P. Kennedy, at Hyannis Port, Mass.

The President has speaking dates at Orono, Maine, and at Boston Saturday.

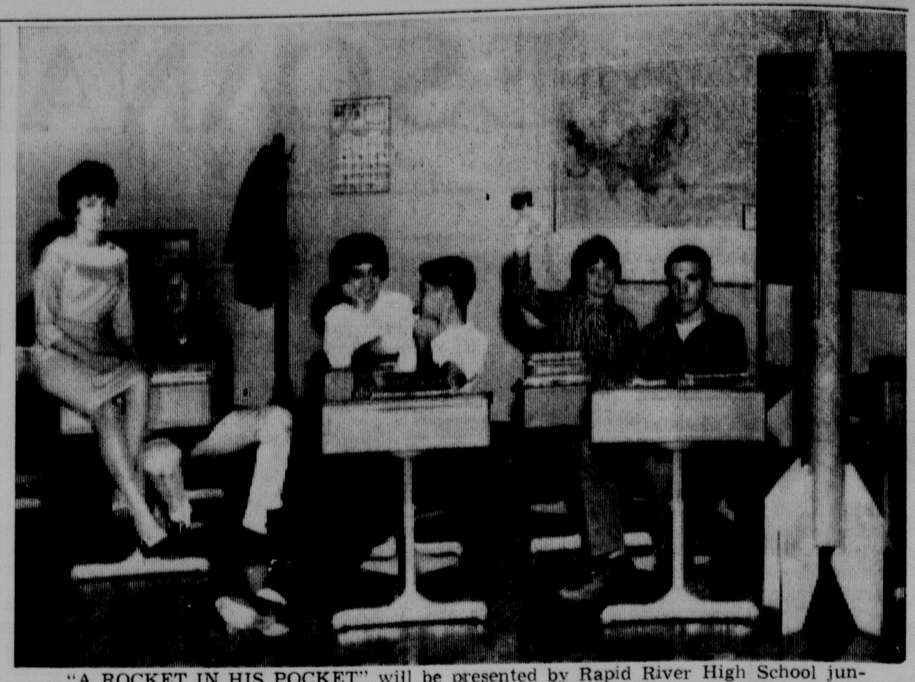

He will fly back to Washington after having Sunday dinner with his father.

Signs Of Winter

Sand Piles For Highways Grow

A sure sign of approaching winter is the building of stockpiles of sand for road de-icing by the Delta County Road Commission.

Each year the demands upon the county road department — which maintains state highways in the county — to keep roads open for travel under all weather conditions increases. Once, says William J. Karas, Delta County highway engineer-superintendent, the county put up only 300 tons of sand for road treatment.

This fall three stockpiles of sand being built at the Road Commission's yard at Wells, at Rapid River and at Garden will total 3,000 ton — That's 1,000 truckloads.

The sand, which comes from the Gladstone Bluff excavation for the Wells and Rapid River stockpiles, and from Jack's Bluff for the Garden pile, is mixed with calcium chloride to give it chemical de-icing function.

Salt and calcium chloride will melt ice in certain temperature ranges, said Karas, but in others chemicals must be combined with gritty material to be effective in de-icing. Hence the stockpiles of treated sand.

Most of the sand is used on staee trunkline maintenance.

DETROIT (AP) — A total of 8,664,961 tons of iron ore passed through the canal at Sault Ste. Marie during September, the Army Corps of Engineers reports. The corps said ships also carried 1,175,935 tons of wheat and ,4,828 tons of bituminous coal through the canal during the month.

Two Shot Dead In Nursing Home

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Doctors had told J.G. Murphy, 71, a school patrolman, there was an incurable tumor on one lung.

Thursday evening he went for a daily visit with his paralyzed wife, Martha, at a nursing home. It was her 73rd birthday. Attendants heard two shots after the two chatted about an hour.

They found both dead from bullet wounds in the head. The inquest verdict was murder and suicide.

Murphy carried a small box as he entered the nursing home. He told acquaintances it contained "a birthday present for my wife." Police said the box contained the death weapon, a .38-caliber pistol.

Stein Memorial Gift Great Aid To School Fund

Project Pride Inc., thanked the donors of a $2,000 memorial gift to the Delta County School for Retarded Children on Thursday noon at a luncheon at Marco's.

President Walter Arntzen of Project Pride said "This is a wonderful gesture which is greatly appreciated. We are very sympathetic because of the circumstances which prompted the memorial and will perpetuate the name of the honoree with a substantial plaque at the new school."

He was speaking to Daniel L. Stein of the Leader Store who had just presented a check to Project Pride for the memorial gift to the Delta County Chapter, Michigan Association for Retarded Children. The gift was from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Stein, 700 S. 14th St., in memory of their late daughter, Mrs. Edith Stein Fineman of Escanaba, who with her husband, Benjamin, Fineman, lost their lives in an airliner disaster on March 17, 1960.

The Finemans were childless and her brother told the Project Pride members that his sister would have approved the memorial as fitting her own sympathies.

Daniel Stein said the gift was one of several memorials to his late sister and appealing to the family because the school planned to help children who couldn't help themselves. He said his inquiries had convinced him that the school would become part of the responsibility of the public school system, assuring its perpetuation.

John A. Lemmer moved, with support by Mel Oslund, that Project Pride adopt a resolution of gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Stein for the memorial gift. Walter Arntzen said it was particularly helpful in this stage of the school building construction as the building trade contractors who compose most of Project Pride's membership were up against "tremendous problems." School building standards require much masonry work and place too heavy a demand upon the volunteer efforts of the community's masons, he said, to expect completion of all the work in this skill on a gift basis.

"Through your help," said Arntzen "we're going to be smelling like roses on this fine project. The building looks good and we're about ready to set the steel. Erling Arntzen plans to place the joists and set the roof deck on Saturday and Charlie Neumeier will go in to put the roof on."

Pair Injured In Accident

Two downstate women sustained injuries when their car collided with a dump truck on U. S. 2-41, near the Escanaba Livestock Auction, at 11:55 a. m. Thursday.

Georgine Mae Hall, 26, of Ann Arbor, suffered a fractured left forearm, a deep laceration to the lip and bruises. Her sister, Judy Hall, 22, of Farmington, suffered only bruises. Both were treated at St. Francis Hospital and released.

According to State Police, the Hall vehicle was traveling south on U. S. 2-41 behind a dump truck driven by Theodore Wetton, 57, of Hancock. They said that about the same time Miss Hall began to overtake the dump truck to pass Wetton made a left-hand turn from the right lane and the Hall car struck the rear of the Wetton truck.

Wetton was ticketed for making an improper turn from the wrong lane.

Changes Voted For Catholics

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council voted qualified approval today to changes in the Roman Catholic sacraments, such as baptism, penance and matrimony.

The changes will permit use of modern languages in the rites and will give extreme unction a new name, "anointing of the sick."

Proponents say such changes will make the sacraments mean more to Catholics.

The council fathers — cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops, bishops and other prelates from around the world—voted for the changes in approving the third chapter of a council schema on liturgy, or public worship.

Only 30 of 2,214 prelates voted against the chapter. But outright approval came from just 1,130. The other 1,054 gave approval but with reservations.

The result was that the chapter failed to get a definite two-thirds majority of 1,477.

The council already had approved 10 amendments to the chapter, one by one, by overwhelming majorities earlier in the week.

But the suggestions made by those who voted approval with reservations — "placet juxta modem"—now must go to the liturgy commission for further work and amendments.

The council then must approve the amendments, but no new vote is needed on the full chapter, which is regarded as approved.

A third majority vote of "placet" and "placet juxta modem" approves a chapter.

Jet Fighters Going To India

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

INDIA: The Air Force will send 18 supersonic F100 jet fighters and about 600 support personnel to India next month to join with British and Australian forces in a test of the Asian country's air defenses.

The exercise will center on the radar warning system that has been set up to guard against possible air attacks from Communist China.

PROTEST: New York's two U.S. senators, Republicans Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, have accused Atty Gen. Robert F. Kennedy of retreating on civil rights legislation.

The attorney general is arguing "we've got to retreat on account of the Republicans," Javits said in a Senate speech Thursday. "I deny that emphatically."

Javits centered his fire on the move within the House Judiciary Committee to narrow a subcommittee proposal to give the attorney general wider power to sue to protect civil rights.

MENTAL HEALTH: Congressional conferees have settled on $329 million as the amount of federal funds to be authorized for an attack on the problems of mental illness and retardation.

The money would help build new community health centers, conduct research into the causes of mental retardation and care for the mentally retarded.

The Senate originally passed an $850 million measure, while the House authorized $238 million. To get agreement, Senate conferees had to drop the most costly item in the Senate bill—a $427-million allotment to help staff the community centers.

VISIT: President Kennedy plans to spend some time Sunday with his ailing father, Joseph P. Kennedy, at Hyannis Port, Mass.

The President has speaking dates at Orono, Maine, and at Boston Saturday.

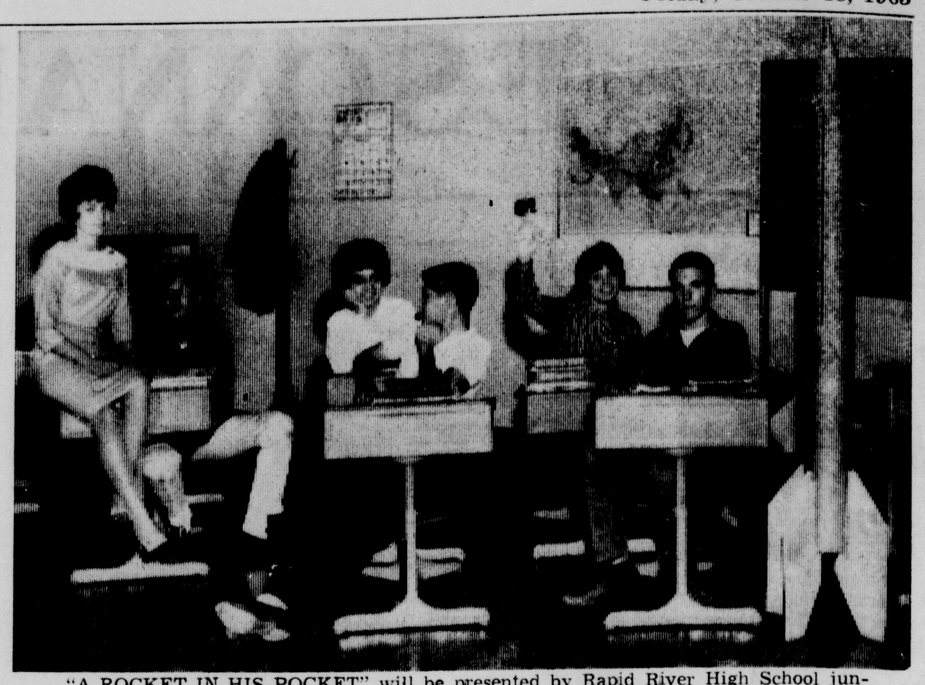

He will fly back to Washington after having Sunday dinner with his father.

Signs Of Winter

Sand Piles For Highways Grow

A sure sign of approaching winter is the building of stockpiles of sand for road de-icing by the Delta County Road Commission.

Each year the demands upon the county road department — which maintains state highways in the county — to keep roads open for travel under all weather conditions increases. Once, says William J. Karas, Delta County highway engineer-superintendent, the county put up only 300 tons of sand for road treatment.

This fall three stockpiles of sand being built at the Road Commission's yard at Wells, at Rapid River and at Garden will total 3,000 ton — That's 1,000 truckloads.

The sand, which comes from the Gladstone Bluff excavation for the Wells and Rapid River stockpiles, and from Jack's Bluff for the Garden pile, is mixed with calcium chloride to give it chemical de-icing function.

Salt and calcium chloride will melt ice in certain temperature ranges, said Karas, but in others chemicals must be combined with gritty material to be effective in de-icing. Hence the stockpiles of treated sand.

Most of the sand is used on staee trunkline maintenance.

DETROIT (AP) — A total of 8,664,961 tons of iron ore passed through the canal at Sault Ste. Marie during September, the Army Corps of Engineers reports. The corps said ships also carried 1,175,935 tons of wheat and 4,828 tons of bituminous coal through the canal during the month.

Two Shot Dead In Nursing Home

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Doctors had told J.G. Murphy, 71, a school patrolman, there was an incurable tumor on one lung.

Thursday evening he went for a daily visit with his paralyzed wife, Martha, at a nursing home. It was her 73rd birthday. Attendants heard two shots after the two chatted about an hour.

They found both dead from bullet wounds in the head. The inquest verdict was murder and suicide.

Murphy carried a small box as he entered the nursing home. He told acquaintances it contained "a birthday present for my wife." Police said the box contained the death weapon, a .38-caliber pistol.

Ford River Town Hall Razing Recalls Killing

Ford River Township has a new township hall and it's going to raze the old town hall.

The process will remove a beaten-up old reminder of some of the wildest excitement in the history of the community about the mouth of the Ford on Green Bay. Actually the old town hall is about a half mile from the village up the road that runs to Hyde, which in the days when Ford River was filling the air with the smoke from burning slabs and edgings and the noise of bandshaws, was called Ford River Switch.

The new Ford River Township Hall is a handsome building of cedar, tailor-made for the purpose by Timber Homes, Inc., of Bay View, the manufacturer of rustic vacation homes.

The old township hall started out as a saloon on a different location on a hill some distance from its present site. Then the Ford River Grange acquired it and enlarged it and in 1938 the Township of Ford River acquired it and the town board has met there since and township voters go there to cast their ballots and hear about the problems of the township water utility and the exposure of pioneer graves by erosion caused by the Ford River, and other troubles.

Scene Of Killing

There won't be one person to object to the removal of the old hall so that the new one may be exposed more fully to passers-by on County Road 521 in all its attraction, but when the old building comes down the local historians won't be able to take their guests by and say: "That's where the Gravel Brothers got it."

In its first location, the old building, back on the hill, had a store front with central door and flanking windows. After it was moved, a lean-to addition was built on its right side and that's the way it is today, in its last stand, with a pair of steel trusses and two turnscrew pipes holding up the second floor inside.

The whole community of Ford River seems to insist that Al Capone ran an alky plant on the top floor of the building during Prohibition. You can find people who'll tell you how many bags of sugar went to the place every week, and how much alcohol came out to be shipped "to the syndicate" in Chicago. It spoils the fun a bit to insist that every communi-up this way had an alky plant or a legend about one, but the legend here is so persistent that it seems possible that there really was a moonshine establishment in the old building, although it is a rather poor choice for one, being so close to a traveled roadway.

Distance To Drink

A watch set up at the suspected distillery resulted in the interception of a truck one night but when it was examined it was revealed that the illicit load was not booze but black bass netted from Indian Lake and being transferred there.

But whether or not Al Capone or some other Prohibition era moon maker operated in the old hall, there can be no question that it was the scene of the community's most spectacular killing.

The saloon at the time, 1909, was operated by a Captain Hansen, whose first name not even John Bartella can remember and Bartella knows Ford River history forward and backward and sideways. He worked for many years for the Ford River Lumber Co., and so did his father before him. It was the disinclination of this company to help make its workers drunk — because they needed so little urging — that barred saloons from the village and caused the town tavern to be up the river a half mile.

The Good Guys

Captain Hansen, who also had a farm on the Bay Shore Road, employed as bartenders Fred Frederickson, who wore a 19-inch collar and was known as "The Terrible Dane," and a second worthy named Billy Lind. These two barkeeps were the good guys of the fatal drama. The bad guys were the Gravel Brothers of Indiantown, a settlement one mile south of Ford River on the shore of Green Bay.

There were at least three Gravel Brothers, but only two figured in the great fight, Dick and Alex. A third brother, Billy Gravel, escaped from an officer by leaping from the washroom of a moving train enroute to Marquette, and was notorious in Escanaba as a baddie, but he wasn't around for the historic occasion. The Gravels were longshoremen, a special class of milltown laborers who loaded lumber vessels.

They were bullies and they didn't like the challenge to their prestige implied in the wide neck of The Terrible Dane behind the bar in Cap Hansen's saloon. Frederickson seldom used his reverse gear.

Two Are Shot

When the inevitable fight started Frederickson and Dick Gravel fought their way out of the barroom into a back room of the building and Lind pulled a revolver and threatened Alex Gravel with it. Gravel reached across the bar to wrench it from Lind and he pulled the trigger. The shot took Gravel in full face and he stumbled into a doorway and collapsed.

Lind went into the back room and ordered Dick Gravel, on the floor with Frederickson, to quit. When he didn't Lind shot him in the head. When young John Bartella got word in the Ford River Lumber Co., office that there's been a shooting at the saloon he called Dr. Hugh B. Reynolds, the company doctor, and told him that he was needed. Dr. Reynolds, he said, wanted to know who was going to pay for the call but Bartella couldn't be sure, on such short notice.

When Bartella arrived on the scene Alex Gravel was still in the doorway, dying. Dick Gravel was on a chair in the next room, bleeding profusely. Alex Gravel died within a half hour of the shooting and Dick Gravel within a year, his mind impaired. Lind, a year later, took his own life by hanging himself from a tree in an orchard.

New Hall Handsome

The old hall doesn't suggest its lurid past today. It's weathered and sagging, so that the chimney looks as though it had been assembled inside and thrust up through the roof. The Ford River Grange, after 30 years of ownership and use, turned the hall over to Ford River Township in 1936 and it has served the township as its seat of government since.

The new building is 28 x 40 feet and has a peak 16 feet above the floor, says Tommy Quinn of Timber Homes. It is open span with the roof carried by husky log trusses. The foundation is concrete block and the township plans an addition to the structure of block which will accommodate a furnace room and toilet facilities.

The building was tailored by Timber Homes to the township's needs and its prefabricated, unit constructior plan made it possible for workers who started erection of the hall on Wednesday to lock the doors on Saturday night.

The building has dressed finished cedar walls, inside and out, and a floor of hardwood. Its window spacing has been planned to provide one windowless area where the voting booths will be installed.

No Building Tax

Timber Homes make rustic vacation homes of cedar, but the firm, allied with Early American Fence Co., can adapt its construction methods easily to create rustic buildings like the one it has fabricated for Ford River Township.

Supervisor Phil Miron said that the new township hall would bring no special assessment that the $8,000 cost of hall and developments would be met from general operating funds of the township with no increase in taxes. The decision on a Timber Home building, he said, was influenced by the attraction of the Made-in-Delta buildings, by its rustic suitability for the sylvan site, and by the fact that it is a local product of a firm employing Delta labor and buying Upper Peninsula wood.

An open house for inspection of the building by township residents and others is planned after completion of the structure, Miron said.

FORD RIVER'S TOWNSHIP'S new township hall is a made-in-Delta building, prefabricated of Cedar by Timber Homes, Inc., of Bay View. This view of the building is from the front on County Road 521.

THIS IS THE WAY the old Ford River Township Hall appears today in the last period of its life. It's to be razed soon to permit development of the grounds about the new Timber Home township hall recently erected. (Daily Press Photos by Bernard Schultz)

Scene Of Killing

There won't be one person to object to the removal of the old hall so that the new one may be exposed more fully to passers-by on County Road 521 in all its attraction, but when the old building comes down the local historians won't be able to take their guests by and say: "That's where the Gravel Brothers got it."

In its first location, the old building, back on the hill, had a store front with central door and flanking windows. After it was moved, a lean-to addition was built on its right side and that's the way it is today, in its last stand, with a pair of steel trusses and two turnscrew pipes holding up the second floor inside.

The whole community of Ford River seems to insist that Al Capone ran an alky plant on the top floor of the building during Prohibition. You can find people who'll tell you how many bags of sugar went to the place every week, and how much alcohol came out to be shipped "to the syndicate" in Chicago. It spoils the fun a bit to insist that every communiup this way had an alky plant or a legend about one, but the legend here is so persistent that it seems possible that there really was a moonshine establishment in the old building, although it is a rather poor choice for one, being so close to a traveled roadway.

Distance To Drink

A watch set up at the suspected distillery resulted in the interception of a truck one night but when it was examined it was revealed that the illicit load was not booze but black bass netted from Indian Lake and being transferred there.

But whether or not Al Capone or some other Prohibition era moon maker operated in the old hall, there can be no question that it was the scene of the community's most spectacular killing.

The saloon at the time, 1909, was operated by a Captain Hansen, whose first name not even John Bartella can remember and Bartella knows Ford River history forward and backward and sideways. He worked for many years for the Ford River Lumber Co., and so did his father before him. It was the disinclination of this company to help make its workers drunk — because they needed so little urging — that barred saloons from the village and caused the town tavern to be up the river a half mile.

The Good Guys

Captain Hansen, who also had a farm on the Bay Shore Road, employed as bartenders Fred Frederickson, who wore a 19-inch collar and was known as "The Terrible Dane," and a second worthy named Billy Lind. These two barkeeps were the good guys of the fatal drama. The bad guys were the Gravel Brothers of Indiantown, a settlement one mile south of Ford River on the shore of Green Bay.

There were at least three Gravel Brothers, but only two figured in the great fight, Dick and Alex. A third brother, Billy Gravel, escaped from an officer by leaping from the washroom of a moving train enroute to Marquette, and was notorious in Escanaba as a baddie, but he wasn't around for the historic occasion. The Gravels were longshoremen, a special class of milltown laborers who loaded lumber vessels.

They were bullies and they didn't like the challenge to their prestige implied in the wide neck of The Terrible Dane behind the bar in Cap Hansen's saloon. Frederickson seldom used his reverse gear.

Two Are Shot

When the inevitable fight started Frederickson and Dick Gravel fought their way out of the barroom into a back room of the building and Lind pulled a revolver and threatened Alex Gravel with it. Gravel reached across the bar to wrench it from Lind and he pulled the trigger. The shot took Gravel in full face and he stumbled into a doorway and collapsed.

Lind went into the back room and ordered Dick Gravel, on the floor with Frederickson, to quit. When he didn't Lind shot him in the head. When young John Bartella got word in the Ford River Lumber Co., office that there's been a shooting at the saloon he called Dr. Hugh B. Reynolds, the company doctor, and told him that he was needed. Dr. Reynolds, he said, wanted to know who was going to pay for the call but Bartella couldn't be sure, on such short notice.

When Bartella arrived on the scene Alex Gravel was still in the doorway, dying. Dick Gravel was on a chair in the next room, bleeding profusely. Alex Gravel died within a half hour of the shooting and Dick Gravel within a year, his mind impaired. Lind, a year later, took his own life by hanging himself from a tree in an orchard.

New Hall Handsome

The old hall doesn't suggest its lurid past today. It's weathered and sagging, so that the chimney looks as though it had been assembled inside and thrust up through the roof. The Ford River Grange, after 30 years of ownership and use, turned the hall over to Ford River Township in 1936 and it has served the township as its seat of government since.

The new building is 28 x 40 feet and has a peak 16 feet above the floor, says Tommy Quinn of Timber Homes. It is open span with the roof carried by husky log trusses. The foundation is concrete block and the township plans an addition to the structure of block which will accommodate a furnace room and toilet facilities.

The building was tailored by Timber Homes to the township's needs and its prefabricated, unit constructior plan made it possible for workers who started erection of the hall on Wednesday to lock the doors on Saturday night.

The building has dressed finished cedar walls, inside and out, and a floor of hardwood. Its window spacing has been planned to provide one windowless area where the voting booths will be installed.

No Building Tax

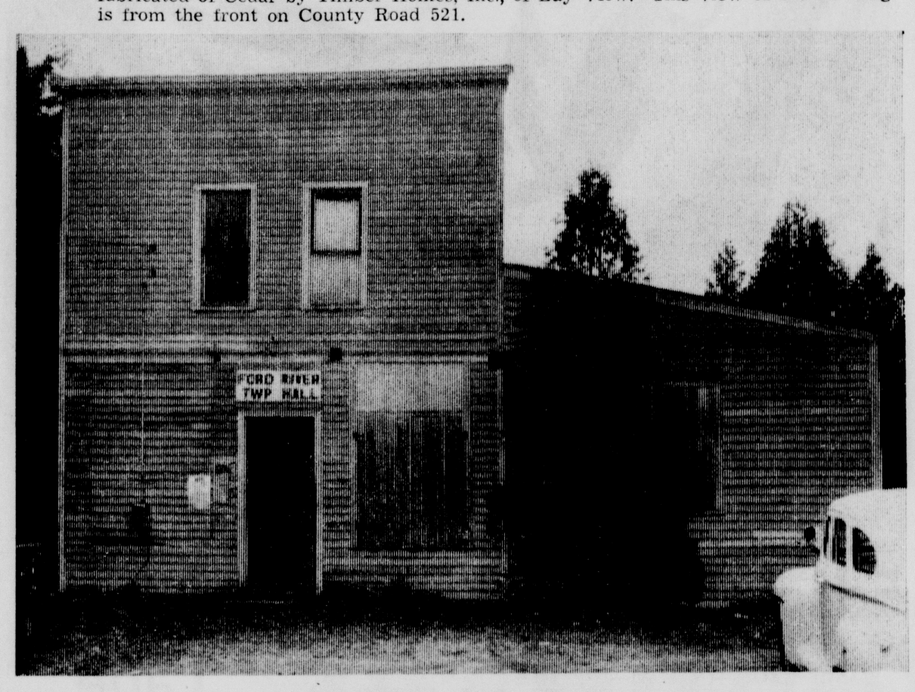

Timber Homes make rustic vacation homes of cedar, but the firm, allied with Early American Fence Co., can adapt its construction methods easily to create rustic buildings like the one it has fabricated for Ford River Township.

Supervisor Phil Miron said that the new township hall would bring no special assessment that the $8,000 cost of hall and developments would be met from general operating funds of the township with no increase in taxes. The decision on a Timber Home building, he said, was influenced by the attraction of the Made-in-Delta buildings, by its rustic suitability for the sylvan site, and by the fact that it is a local product of a firm employing Delta labor and buying Upper Peninsula wood.

An open house for inspection of the building by township residents and others is planned after completion of the structure, Miron said.

FORD RIVER'S TOWNSHIP'S new township hall is a made-in-Delta building, prefabricated of Cedar by Timber Homes, Inc., of Bay View. This view of the building is from the front on County Road 521.

THIS IS THE WAY the old Ford River Township Hall appears today in the last period of its life. It's to be razed soon to permit development of the grounds about the new Timber Home township hall recently erected. (Daily Press Photos by Bernard Schultz)

Letters To Newspapers

The current observance of National Newspaper Week provides a pert occasion for discussion of letters to newspapers. The contributions of its readers provide some of the best reading in American newspapers today. The staff writers may know ever so much about their subjects but the readers have their own viewpoints and it is wholesome and helpful to have it expressed so that a weathervane of public opinion is created.

All newspapers require that letters contributed for publication be signed with the name and address of the writer so the communication can be checked to see if it is really from the purported writer. Some newspapers permit the correspondent the privilege of having his name withheld, some do not. There are good things to be said about both systems, and each has its deficiencies.

The Escanaba Daily Press currently permits writers to ask to have their names withheld, but insists that they identify themselves so that the Press knows who they are. This plan provides an umbrella of anonymity for the writer which irritates and, we suspect, at times infuriates the reader, who would like to know who the writer is so he can call her up and tell her what a jerk she is.

This is the reason that she doesn't want her name used, of course. Persons who have written public communications on controversial subjects will know what we're talking about; it is an invitation to abuse. Some of these communications are helpful to the public and they should be published, but the writer doesn't want to make herself a burnt offering in the effort to help the public, so she asks anonymity.

Periodically it is suggested to us that anyone who has something to say publicly should have the courage to identify himself. This suggestion is usually a reaction to something which has been read over a "Name Withheld" signature. The critic, we suspect, wants the name so he can tell the writer off.

But the real judgment on a contribution should be on its validity and not its authorship. Does it make sense? If it does, why not consider it? If it doesn't what does it matter who says it? The writers of most of the news and comment which appear in American newspapers are unknown to the readers and they take no umbrage at this situation, but let another reader make a comment in the Letters Column and the fur may fly.

The Press isn't happy with its grant of anonymity to letter writers. The privilege is abused at times. The abuse could be corrected easily by publishing the names of all letter writers. But this would cut off the occasional writer with a plea for public understanding or aid who would be embarrassed, threatened or subjected to punishment of some kind if his authorship were known. We are reluctant to cut off the chance of this fearful voice to be heard.

The reader's real protection is in the integrity of the newspaper. It keeps control of the Letters Column, denying publication to those letters which are libelous, in bad taste, private pleading, erroneous, simply argumentative, or unfair. There is no thought to screen out letters which are controversial or which disagree with newspaper policy, as witness the number of hunters' letters published which suggest that game biologists are musclebound upstairs.

A newspaper's quality is always the total of its staff and its readership. A good community will tend to have a good newspaper and a good newspaper will tend to help make a good community. The more intimate, lively and forthright the relationship between a newspaper and its readership is, the more both are helped. The Letters Column is a good window to use to look into the fascinating, ever-changing complex world of public opinion.

The Doctor Says:

No Short Cut To Reduce Fat

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q — I have a large roll of sagging tissue on my abdomen. Would a plastic operation help me?

A — There is no short cut to weight reduction or the removal of rolls of fat. Many years ago the plastic surgeons tried the type of operation you have in mind, but the results were poor and it is no longer advised. Anyone who really wants to lose weight can do so, but most persons who are overweight give their desire for food first priority and their desire to lose weight second or third priority.

Q — I am 63. In the last few years I notice that if I take milk in any amount I get a severe pain in my chest. Is there any way the milk could be treated so that I could again enjoy it on my cereal?

A — You must have developed an allergy to milk. As long as you have it there is no way to avoid the symptoms without omitting milk from your diet. Although desensitization is often successful for allergy to pollens it is rarely effective for allergy to foods. This is because with pollens we are dealing with a microscopic amount of the offending material while with foods we are dealing with much larger amounts. If there is a source of goat's milk available you might find that you are not allergic to milk in that form.

Q — When my baby was born, part of the afterbirth stayed behind and later I started to bleed. What causes this and what are my chances of it happening again after another baby?

A — What causes part of the afterbirth to remain behind is not known but it happens often enough that every doctor should examine the afterbirth very carefully. When even a small part of it is missing it should be removed at once. Otherwise hemorrhage, sometimes fatal, will surely follow. The chances that this would happen again to you are very slight but, if it did happen, prompt recognition of the fact should lead your doctor to take immediate steps to remove the missing fragment.

Q — Is it all right for me to continue the use of Stelazine over a period of a year or more? What are the side effects of this drug?

A — You are taking one of the many tranquilizers now available and I would certainly not advise its use for so prolonged a period. As with all tranquilizers, the principal side effect is drowsiness, but this drug does not cause side effects when the dosage is small. Since the drug can be obtained only on a doctor's prescription, why don't you talk to your doctor about cutting down and eventually stopping it. Some solution should be sought for whatever emotional problems have been making you so jittery that you had to have a tranquilizer in the first place.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Imported foods supplied about 13 per cent of the total food used in the United States in 1961 and 1962, according to Ohio State University extension economists.

"The Trouble Is, Doc, I Can't Tell Whether It's a Nightmare or a Premonition"

TOM LITTLE, NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(N E A)—A more active Kennedy administration role in considering all of the 25 major U. S. railroad merger applications now before the Interstate Commerce Commission has just been indicated by Undersecretary of Commerce for Transportation Clarence D. Martin Jr.

Speaking before the Transportation Assn. of America at Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., Mr. Martin, as chairman of the administration's Interagency Committee on Transport Mergers, maps out the government's new plan to create four competitive rail systems in the northeast.

This had been outlined briefly when Asst. Atty. Gen. William H. Orrick Jr., in charge of the Department of Justice antitrust division, appeared before an ICC examiner in his final week of hearings on the Pennsylvania-New York Central case to oppose their merger.

This action served to keep the case open indefinitely.

Mr. Martin's follow-up speech presents arguments that four major railroad systems in the northeastern U. S. will offer the best service to the public, the most competition among the carriers and the greatest stability for all.

The four systems would be built around the New York Central with Boston & Maine, the Pennsylvania divested of its Wabash holdings, the Chesapeake & Ohio merged with Baltimore & Ohio, and finally the Norfolk and Western merged with Nickel Plate, Wabash, New York, New Haven and Hartford.

Inclusion of the New Haven —now in receivership—came as a complete surprise to railroad management. It is justified on the grounds that New Haven has good connections at Maybrook Junction, N. Y., with Erie-Lackawana, which would also have to be included in this system, not NYC.

The theory is that if the Penn-Central merger were approved there would be only three systems in the east. Penn-Central would dominate the other two. If they could not compete, all would have to be merged into one system, which would create a transportation monopoly.

With four systems in operation, if any of them could not make a go of it, there could be mergers into two systems, which would still provide competition.

The desire to create a fourth strong system is believed to have influence dthe administration's decision to approve the B&O-C&O merger. This was a complete reversal of the administration's position last March. Department of Justice was then considering court action to block ICC approval.

Mr. Martin declared that the four-system plans effect on employment was fully considered. But Railway Labor Executives Assn. chairman G. E. Leighty backs the government's disapproval of the Penn-Central merger while condemning its new approval of the B&O-C&O and other mergers.

Railway labor is backing bills in Congress to ban all mergers. But since the death of Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., a principal sponsor, passage is uncertain.

★ ★ ★

To railway management, the Interagency Committee under Mr. Martin is a group of young, eager-beaver boys with no experience in transportation.

Other members are Asst. Atty. Gen. Orrick, Asst. Labor Sec. James J. Reynolds, Dr. John P. Lewis of the Council of Economic Advisers and E. Barrett Prettyman Jr., of the White House staff. Its technical experts are Commerce Department career transportation men.

But this committee is going to be of increasing importance in Washington. Its creation was first announced in President Kennedy's transportation message to Congress. Since the legislation he asked for is bogged down, it is apparent that more emphasis will be put on administrative action.

To railroad management, the saving grace in this situation is that the Interstate Commerce Commission doesn't have to pay any attention to Interagency Committee recommendations. If ICC turns them down, the administration would have to take its case to court in opposition to the established agency which now has legal authority to make the decisions.

Upper Peninsula Is Told . . .

Transport Study Suggests Wisconsin, Illinois Ties

Preliminary report on the Upper Peninsula transportation study by Robert Nathan Associates for the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems indicates that where there has been demand for transportation, the demand has been met.

"We can go further," said Economist Joseph Revis "and say that with large shippers there were practically no dissatisfactions at all. The only complaints were with respect to service and these were not serious complaints."

Revis presented the preliminary findings of the body to UPCAP's transportation committee headed by Steve Kakuk of Stephenson. He prefaced his report with a reminder that transporation is a service arising in response to a demand generated by economic activities. It doesn't generate economic activity by itself, he said.

"If there are areas in which a transportation system is not sensitive to the demand, but it already exists, then a group like UPCAP can bring it into the open so everyone can see that there is a demand that hasn't been quite sufficiently met," said Revis.

U. P. Markets Distant

"About the only real disadvantage that we found is that the Upper Peninsula is geographically somewhat distant from its major markets. It doesn't mean that you can't find products to move. In the study we have identified many products that have been moving.

"For example we found that three areas tend to move a great diversity of products in transportation—Iron Mountain, Menominee and Escanaba. These are three areas that have the greatest economic diversity in the Upper Peninsula, too. They have machinery industry going and a variety of manufacturing. And it's no accident that the kind of manufacturing that has developed in these three regions is the kind where the cost of transportation is not a very significant factor. They make high value products.

"It is our feeling that insofar as the highway system is concerned that the Upper Peninsula has excellent highways; that they are well maintained, and unless highway traffic were suddenly to sharply increase they seem to have sufficient capacity to handle any traffic over at least the next five years. And that's very conservative.

Traffic Trend Static

"In view of the fact that the rail system has actually declined in tonnage in the last 5 years, there is not only adequate capacity, but there is an excess capacity which could handle future economic growth.

"U. P. air passenger traffic has grown at a very respectable rate; certainly at as good a rate as is true for air passenger traffic as a whole in the United States.

"About a third of all passengers in the U. P. go to either Chicago or Detroit. Lansing is also an important destination downstate. The U. P. seems adequate tied together with its business and political connections. Its major connections are to Detroit, Milwaukee and Chicago, which are its main business connections, along with Cleveland. Subsidiary important points are Minneapolis and New York.

"We found that aside from variations in specific locations in the U. P. and despite an increase in motor vehicle registration, over the last 5 or 6 years the trend of traffic has changed very little. This stability seems related to the fact that a vast part of the U. P. highway traffic is in the months when the tourists are traveling in the area.

Against Freeway

"Recovery from the depression of 1957-58 has been slow and apparently the tourist business recovery very slowly.

"Improved roads here are not likely to result in great stimulation of traffic volume. It seems to us difficult to justify an east-west throughway in the Upper Peninsula on basis of existing traffic counts. We think it should be discouraged until we have much larger traffic volume.

"No one will argue that an expressway with limited access tends to discourage the kind of casual touring that is important to the tourist business in the Upper Peninsula.

"On the other hand a throughway north-south from Wisconsin would bea very distinct advantage to the Upper Peninsula. Wisconsin expressway in this direction would work in the same way as a Michigan expressway to bring people up. Whatever brings people to the U. P. should be encouraged, short of road blocks.

Bridge Traffic Stabilized

"Traffic is very seasonal, but we were surprised that there is a basic core of travel traveling through the Upper Peninsula even in winter, showing that winter is not a real handicap. People may not like it, but once the tourists go traffic stabilizes and is maintained throughout the winter.

"It is pretty clear that the number of people crossing the Mackinac Bridge has been stabilized in the past three years to about 1.2 million. We found a very sharp increase in passenger cars hauling trailers or some kind of vehicle, which suggests that there has been a sizeable increase in the number of campers.

"For those communities building camping facilities our recommendation would be that they continue to do so because this is an important segment of the tourist business. Facilities are being used to capacity.

"The value of the Mackinac Bridge is essentially in terms of its contribution to tourism and recreation. As a commercial tie it has much less value. For example in 1962 about 90 pct. of the traffic was passenger cars and the great bulk of that traffic comes in the summer months. The bridge is serving as a seasonal tourist access to the Upper Peninsula.

Toll Cuts Useless

"We have very serious doubts that reduction of the tolls would substantially affect the number of users. To people on vacation—and that's at least 90 pct. of the traffic—the toll is of no significance.

"We think it would be possible to talk about rate cuts for a very small group of people. You might under the present financing develop selective rate cuts in order to foster greater commercial use and foster local business traffic.

"Some of the following things could be developed: A quantity discount in which you pay for 4 passenger rides and get the 5th free. The tourist industry might advertise that anyone staying in the U. P. a sufficient time wouldn't have to pay the bridge toll. For motel operators to pay the toll for guests of a week might be good business. This might apply to the International Bridge too; we found that there is a sizeable volume of traffic coming in from Canada.

"As it stands now we couldn't say one way or another about cutting bridge rates on commercial traffic. We don't know origins, destinations or type of commodities being hauled. We think such a study should be undertaken by the Bridge Authority, Public Service Commission or some other agencies as without it there is no basis for a rational rate structure.

Where Needed

"The largest air freight centers are Iron Mountain, Menominee and Escanaba. This is associated with the economic diversity of the areas and supports the contention that transportation provides a service where the need exists. Rail, water and air transportation suggest that the south circle area of the Upper Peninsula is developing an embryo industrial center of great diversification and this is a very healthy sign.

"It's these kinds of products —machinery, machine tools, and manufactured products that can be shipped—that hold the greatest prospect for the U. P. In simple terms the higher the value added the most prospect it has of absorbing transportation charges.

"Water transportation is largely tied around the resources of the region, particularly iron ore and limestone, with coal as a back haul movement. The same thing pretty much holds true for the railroads.

Ties Defined

"Of the three long haul carriers serving the U. P. the one with the greatest diversification is the Soo Line, particularly in hauling wood products.

"In the final report we hope to suggest at some specific industries that would be suitable for the Upper Peninsula, to identify many products that are moving in small amount but which are of high value and which could be produced here in greater volume.

"The ties of the U. P. are into Wisconsin and Minnesota. It is difficult to get access to the Lower Peninsula and the bridge does not supply a commercial access. The Upper Peninsula will have to recognize that its markets and economic ties are in the direction of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois and work in these directions.

"We found people coming to the U. P. through Wisconsin from the Lower Peninsula in considerable volume. They wanted to go through Chicago and make the Lake Michigan loop tour."

More Negroes Appear On TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—An interesting addition to television this season handled without emphasis, is the presence of so many Negro performers.

All network programs have been using Negro actors and actresses in increasing numbers during the past couple of seasons, but usually in minor roles —policemen, judges, members of crowds.

Many have noted the change and compared it with the situation of a few seasons back when a series set on the Mississippi River in the Civil War period managed a whole season without showing a single Negro, even in crowd scenes.

One of the funniest Dick Van Dyke shows was an episode involving a suspected baby-switch. A pair of attractive young Negroes were prominent in the proceedings.

"The Defenders," which along with the old "Naked City" series has always used Negro actors, will star actor-playwright Ossie Davis, playing an assistant district attorney, in its Nov. 9 episode. "East Side, West Side" on Nov. 4 is to tell a tragic love story about a young married couple, Negroes, who lose their baby. That series, incidentally, makes frequent, unostentatious use of Negroes.

"The Nurses" has had Negroes playing feature roles, and next Wednesday's "Eleventh Hour" stars Diahann Carroll as a nurse.

Japanese Race Pigeons Vanish

TOKYO (AP) — Missing: 51 foreign and 162 Japanese homing pigeons.

Where? Between Matsushima (Pine Island) and Tokyo, 190 miles apart.

When? Since Wednesday morning.

The pigeons were entered in the 11th annual International Pigeon Race sponsored by the Japan Homing Pigeon Association.

Only four Japanese pigeons of 217 entries have returned to their coops in Tokyo. The missing pigeons were last seen wheeling in the sky from Matsushima at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

"We're flabbergasted," a pigeon Association spokesman said today. "They're long overdue."

MOSCOW (AP)—An international Communist source said that Communist party delegations from 20 to 25 foreign countries would meet in Moscow Nov. 7 to prepare a call for a world meeting to discuss the Soviet-Chinese dispute.

Letters To Newspapers

The current observance of National Newspaper Week provides a pert occasion for discussion of letters to newspapers. The contributions of its readers provide some of the best reading in American newspapers today. The staff writers may know ever so much about their subjects but the readers have their own viewpoints and it is wholesome and helpful to have it expressed so that a weathervane of public opinion is created.

All newspapers require that letters contributed for publication be signed with the name and address of the writer so the communication can be checked to see if it is really from the purported writer. Some newspapers permit the correspondent the privilege of having his name withheld, some do not. There are good things to be said about both systems, and each has its deficiencies.

The Escanaba Daily Press currently permits writers to ask to have their names withheld, but insists that they identify themselves so that the Press knows who they are. This plan provides an umbrella of anonymity for the writer which irritates and, we suspect, at times infuriates the reader, who would like to know who the writer is so he can call her up and tell her what a jerk she is.

This is the reason that she doesn't want her name used, of course. Persons who have written public communications on controversial subjects will know what we're talking about; it is an invitation to abuse. Some of these communications are helpful to the public and they should be published, but the writer doesn't want to make herself a burnt offering in the effort to help the public, so she asks anonymity.

Periodically it is suggested to us that anyone who has something to say publicly should have the courage to identify himself. This suggestion is usually a reaction to something which has been read over a "Name Withheld" signature. The critic, we suspect, wants the name so he can tell the writer off.

But the real judgment on a contribution should be on its validity and not its authorship. Does it make sense? If it does, why not consider it? If it doesn't what does it matter who says it? The writers of most of the news and comment which appear in American newspapers are unknown to the readers and they take no umbrage at this situation, but let another reader make a comment in the Letters Column and the fur may fly.

The Press isn't happy with its grant of anonymity to letter writers. The privilege is abused at times. The abuse could be corrected easily by publishing the names of all letter writers. But this would cut off the occasional writer with a plea for public understanding or aid who would be embarrassed, threatened or subjected to punishment of some kind if his authorship were known. We are reluctant to cut off the chance of this fearful voice to be heard.

The reader's real protection is in the integrity of the newspaper. It keeps control of the Letters Column, denying publication to those letters which are libelous, in bad taste, private pleading, erroneous, simply argumentative, or unfair. There is no thought to screen out letters which are controversial or which disagree with newspaper policy, as witness the number of hunters' letters published which suggest that game biologists are musclebound upstairs.

A newspaper's quality is always the total of its staff and its readership. A good community will tend to have a good newspaper and a good newspaper will tend to help make a good community. The more intimate, lively and forthright the relationship between a newspaper and its readership is, the more both are helped. The Letters Column is a good window to use to look into the fascinating, ever-changing complex world of public opinion.

The Doctor Says:

No Short Cut To Reduce Fat

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q — I have a large roll of sagging tissue on my abdomen. Would a plastic operation help me?

A — There is no short cut to weight reduction or the removal of rolls of fat. Many years ago the plastic surgeons tried the type of operation you have in mind, but the results were poor and it is no longer advised. Anyone who really wants to lose weight can do so, but most persons who are overweight give their desire for food first priority and their desire to lose weight second or third priority.

Q — I am 63. In the last few years I notice that if I take milk in any amount I get a severe pain in my chest. Is there any way the milk could be treated so that I could again enjoy it on my cereal?

A — You must have developed an allergy to milk. As long as you have it there is no way to avoid the symptoms without omitting milk from your diet. Although desensitization is often successful for allergy to pollens it is rarely effective for allergy to foods. This is because with pollens we are dealing with a microscopic amount of the offending material while with foods we are dealing with much larger amounts. If there is a source of goat's milk available you might find that you are not allergic to milk in that form.

Q — When my baby was born, part of the afterbirth stayed behind and later I started to bleed. What causes this and what are my chances of it happening again after another baby?

A — What causes part of the afterbirth to remain behind is not known but it happens often enough that every doctor should examine the afterbirth very carefully. When even a small part of it is missing it should be removed at once. Otherwise hemorrhage, sometimes fatal, will surely follow. The chances that this would happen again to you are very slight but, if it did happen, prompt recognition of the fact should lead your doctor to take immediate steps to remove the missing fragment.

Q — Is it all right for me to continue the use of Stelazine over a period of a year or more? What are the side effects of this drug?

A — You are taking one of the many tranquilizers now available and I would certainly not advise its use for so prolonged a period. As with all tranquilizers, the principal side effect is drowsiness, but this drug does not cause side effects when the dosage is small. Since the drug can be obtained only on a doctor's prescription, why don't you talk to your doctor about cutting down and eventually stopping it. Some solution should be sought for whatever emotional problems have been making you so jittery that you had to have a tranquilizer in the first place.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

"The Trouble Is, Doc, I Can't Tell Whether It's a Nightmare or a Premonition"

TOM LITTLE, NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(N E A)—A more active Kennedy administration role in considering all of the 25 major U. S. railroad merger applications now before the Interstate Commerce Commission has just been indicated by Undersecretary of Commerce for Transportation Clarence D. Martin Jr.

Speaking before the Transportation Assn. of America at Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., Mr. Martin, as chairman of the administration's Interagency Committee on Transport Mergers, maps out the government's new plan to create four competitive rail systems in the northeast.

This had been outlined briefly when Asst. Atty. Gen. William H. Orrick Jr., in charge of the Department of Justice antitrust division, appeared before an ICC examiner in his final week of hearings on the Pennsylvania-New York Central case to oppose their merger.

This action served to keep the case open indefinitely.

Mr. Martin's follow-up speech presents arguments that four major railroad systems in the northeastern U. S. will offer the best service to the public, the most competition among the carriers and the greatest stability for all.

The four systems would be built around the New York Central with Boston & Maine, the Pennsylvania divested of its Wabash holdings, the Chesapeake & Ohio merged with Baltimore & Ohio, and finally the Norfolk and Western merged with Nickel Plate, Wabash, New York, New Haven and Hartford.

Inclusion of the New Haven —now in receivership—came as a complete surprise to railroad management. It is justified on the grounds that New Haven has good connections at Maybrook Junction, N. Y., with Erie-Lackawana, which would also have to be included in this system, not NYC.

The theory is that if the Penn-Central merger were approved there would be only three systems in the east. Penn-Central would dominate the other two. If they could not compete, all would have to be merged into one system, which would create a transportation monopoly.

With four systems in operation, if any of them could not make a go of it, there could be mergers into two systems, which would still provide competition.

The desire to create a fourth strong system is believed to have influence dthe administration's decision to approve the B&O-C&O merger. This was a complete reversal of the administration's position last March. Department of Justice was then considering court action to block ICC approval.

Mr. Martin declared that the four-system plans effect on employment was fully considered. But Railway Labor Executives Assn. chairman G. E. Leighty backs the government's disapproval of the Penn-Central merger while condemning its new approval of the B&O-C&O and other mergers.

Railway labor is backing bills in Congress to ban all mergers. But since the death of Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., a principal sponsor, passage is uncertain.

★ ★ ★

To railway management, the Interagency Committee under Mr. Martin is a group of young, eager-beaver boys with no experience in transportation.

Other members are Asst. Atty. Gen. Orrick, Asst. Labor Sec. James J. Reynolds, Dr. John P. Lewis of the Council of Economic Advisers and E. Barrett Prettyman Jr., of the White House staff. Its technical experts are Commerce Department career transportation men.

But this committee is going to be of increasing importance in Washington. Its creation was first announced in President Kennedy's transportation message to Congress. Since the legislation he asked for is bogged down, it is apparent that more emphasis will be put on administrative action.

To railroad management, the saving grace in this situation is that the Interstate Commerce Commission doesn't have to pay any attention to Interagency Committee recommendations. If ICC turns them down, the administration would have to take its case to court in opposition to the established agency which now has legal authority to make the decisions.

Upper Peninsula Is Told . . .

Transport Study Suggests Wisconsin, Illinois Ties

Preliminary report on the Upper Peninsula transportation study by Robert Nathan Associates for the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems indicates that where there has been demand for transportation, the demand has been met.

"We can go further," said Economist Joseph Revis "and say that with large shippers there were practically no dissatisfactions at all. The only complaints were with respect to service and these were not serious complaints."

Revis presented the preliminary findings of the body to UPCAP's transportation committee headed by Steve Kakuk of Stephenson. He prefaced his report with a reminder that transporation is a service arising in response to a demand generated by economic activities. It doesn't generate economic activity by itself, he said.

"If there are areas in which a transportation system is not sensitive to the demand, but it already exists, then a group like UPCAP can bring it into the open so everyone can see that there is a demand that hasn't been quite sufficiently met," said Revis.

U. P. Markets Distant

"About the only real disadvantage that we found is that the Upper Peninsula is geographically somewhat distant from its major markets. It doesn"t mean that you can't find products to move. In the study we have identified many products that have been moving.

"For example we found that three areas tend to move a great diversity of products in transportation—Iron Mountain, Menominee and Escanaba. These are three areas that have the greatest economic diversity in the Upper Peninsula, too. They have machinery industry going and a variety of manufacturing. And it's no accident that the kind of manufacturing that has developed in these three regions is the kind where the cost of transportation is not a very significant factor. They make high value products.

"It is our feeling that insofar as the highway system is concerned that the Upper Peninsula has excellent highways; that they are well maintained, and unless highway traffic were suddenly to sharply increase they seem to have sufficient capacity to handle any traffic over at least the next five years. And that's very conservative.

Traffic Trend Static

"In view of the fact that the rail system has actually declined in tonnage in the last 5 years, there is not only adequate capacity, but there is an excess capacity which could handle future economic growth.

"U. P. air passenger traffic has grown at a very respectable rate; certainly at as good a rate as is true for air passenger traffic as a whole in the United States.

"About a third of all passengers in the U. P. go to either Chicago or Detroit. Lansing is also an important destination downstate. The U. P. seems adequate tied together with its business and political connections. Its major connections are to Detroit, Milwaukee and Chicago, which are its main business connections, along with Cleveland. Subsidiary important points are Minneapolis and New York.

"We found that aside from variations in specific locations in the U. P. and despite an increase in motor vehicle registration, over the last 5 or 6 years the trend of traffic has changed very little. This stability seems related to the fact that a vast part of the U P. highway traffic is in the months when the tourists are traveling in the area.

Against Freeway

"Recovery from the depression of 1957-58 has been slow and apparently the tourist business recovery very slowly.

"Improved roads here are not likely to result in great stimulation of traffic volume. It seems to us difficult to justify an east-west throughway in the Upper Peninsula on basis of existing traffic counts. We think it should be discouraged until we have much larger traffic volume.

"No one will argue that an expressway with limited access tends to discourage the kind of casual touring that is important to the tourist business in the Upper Peninsula.

"On the other hand a throughway north-south from Wisconsin would bea very distinct advantage to the Upper Peninsula. Wisconsin expressway in this direction would work in the same way as a Michigan expressway to bring people up. Whatever brings people to the U. P. should be encouraged and whatever slows them down in the U. P. should be encouraged, short of road blocks.

Bridge Traffic Stabilized

"Traffic is very seasonal, but we were surprised that there is a basic core of travel traveling through the Upper Peninsula even in winter, showing that winter is not a real handicap. People may not like it, but once the tourists go traffic stabilizes and is maintained throughout the winter.

"It is pretty clear that the number of people crossing the Mackinac Bridge has been stabilized in the past three years to about 1.2 million. We found a very sharp increase in passenger cars hauling trailers or some kind of vehicle, which suggests that there has been a sizeable increase in the number of campers.

"For those communities building camping facilities our recommendation would be that they continue to do so because this is an important segment of the tourist business. Facilities are being used to capacity.

"The value of the Mackinac Bridge is essentially in terms of its contribution to tourism and recreation. As a commercial tie it has much less value. For example in 1962 about 90 pct. of the traffic was passenger cars and the great bulk of that traffic comes in the summer months. The bridge is serving as a seasonal tourist access to the Upper Peninsula.

Toll Cuts Useless

"We have very serious doubts that reduction of the tolls would substantially affect the number of users. To people on vacation—and that's at least 90 pct. of the traffic—the toll is of no significance.

"We think it would be possible to talk about rate cuts for a very small group of people. You might under the present financing develop selective rate cuts in order to foster greater commercial use and foster local business traffic.

"Some of the following things could be developed: A quantity discount in which you pay for 4 passenger rides and get the 5th free. The tourist industry might advertise that anyone staying in the U. P. a sufficient time wouldn't have to pay the bridge toll. For motel operators to pay the toll for guests of a week might be good business. This might apply to the International Bridge too; we found that there is a sizeable volume of traffic coming in from Canada.

"As it stands now we couldn't say one way or another about cutting bridge rates on commercial traffic. We don't know origins, destinations or type of commodities being hauled. We think such a study should be undertaken by the Bridge Authority, Public Service Commission or some other agencies as without it there is no basis for a rational rate structure.

We Honor the LEADERS of TOMORROW—

Escanaba Daily Press

NEWSPAPERBOYS

Your newspaperboy and 600,000 other youngsters make up the world's greatest junior sales and service organization.

His experience as a newspaperboy is unique—unlike any other part-time job.

As a Junior Independent Merchant, he buys his newspapers at wholesale and sells them at retail... for a profit. Assisted by men who are interested in and trained to work with boys...and an occasional "pat on the back" from his family...this young businessman develops the self-discipline which prompt delivery requires...learns how to get along with people in all walks of life...how to make sales ...how to collect his money. He assumes the responsibility for his growing business.

Boys who learned the principles of business as newspaperboys have become presidents, governors, mayors, industrialists, and key men in this community. And many of tomorrow's leaders who will decide the future of this nation are getting their basic training today as newspaperboys.

Only one boy in ten gets the opportunity to have a newspaper route. If you think your son might profit by such experience, why not have him come in and talk to us.

Ann Landers

Neighbor Is Nut

Dear Ann Landers: What can we do about a woman in our neighborhood who doesn't have all her marbles?

There are several families on this street and we all have young children. Naturally, children fight. This mother is forever rushing out of her house and becoming involved in the battles of her four and five year olds. She hits the youngster, sometimes in the face and on the head with a rolled up magazine, a mixing spoon — or whatever she happens to be holding in her hands at the moment.

Yesterday I just happened to be looking out the window and I saw her take a swipe at my three-year-old. I immediately went over and asked her what she thought she was doing. She replied, "Your child took my Harvey's bottle of ants."

Please don't suggest that I reason with her because it is impossible to reason with a nut. Please suggest something workable. — END OF MY ROPE

Dear Rope: Instruct your children to stay out of the woman's yard. If she puts a foot on your property — either to referee or to take over for her kids — tell her she is trespassing and it is against the law.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: Last Sunday I was invited to have supper in a restaurant with my boy friend and his parents. I am not quite 13, and I am a boy, too, so don't jump on my head for dating so young.

I was embarrassed when they asked me to order first because I didn't know how much money they wanted to spend on me. I looked at the prices and everything seemed pretty high. I didn't know whether to order a whole dinner or a sandwich or what. Really, it was horrible.

I stumbled around for a long time and then said I would have a peanut-butter and jelly sandwich because it was all I could think of. Everyone else ordered a whole dinner and I felt like a fool.

Please tell me what to do next time. Maybe the next family I eat with won't be able to afford whole dinners for everybody. — RED FACE

Dear Red: Your best bet is to say you can't decide what you want and ask the others to please go ahead and order so you can get an idea. Then order something similar.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been going steady with this fellow for seven months. He is 20 and I am 24.

He is very sweet to me but there's something fishy about this guy. He has dinner at our house at least twice a week. My folks like him a lot and have offered him the guest room when the weather has been bad and his car was in the shop. (He lives on the other side of town.)

In all the time we've been going together he has never suggested that I meet his folks. He has told me about his mother and father and sister and they sound like fine people.

I have seen his home (from the outside) and it is beautiful. He can't possibly be ashamed of it.

Don't you think seven months of chit-chat is enough? He owants to be serious but I don't wants to be serious but I don't fellow who is afraid or ashamed tc introduce me to his family. What do you say? — HAD ENUFF

Dear Enuff: You bet there is something fishy about this guy. No girl should tie herself up for seven months just for the halibut. Throw him back in the tank.

Three years ago, he lost his diamond ring while fishing on Caddo Lake near here. He returned to the same spot, groped around in the mud for 30 minutes and found it.

Two Negro Boys O.K. In School At Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Dwight Armstrong is vice president of his sixth grade class. The most remarkable fact about this is that Dwight and his younger brother, Floyd, are the only Negroes in Graymont Elementary School.

Floyd also is gaining acceptance among his white classmates. Just the other day, he said, he was surprised when he was picked to captain the touch football team that day.

Dwight, 11, and Floyd, 10, made history along with 20 other Negroes in Birmingham, Mobile, Huntsville and Tuskegee when they attended white schools—under federal court orders.

The early furor over school desegregation apparently is dying down and Dwight and Floyd both note a growing acceptance by the other pupils.

"I feel kind of like I used to going to school. No different. I feel better," Dwight said during an interview. The more talkative of the two boys, he looked at Floyd.

"I feel natural, like I usually feel," Floyd said.

They admit their feelings are quite different than when they entered the school in early September. Then they were nervous, excited and — as they remember it — alone.

"I said to myself, 'I don't care what they say, I know who I am and what I am,' " Dwight said, explaining his initial reaction.

Their father, James Armstrong Sr., a Birmingham barber, has an explanation for his boys being tense, but not afraid: "They went to jail during the demonstrations, I guess that got the fear out of them."

There have been a few incidents — an occasional trip, or push, but nothing unpleasant lately. Armstrong, who moved into the neighborhood five years ago, keeps a guard at his house all night, and the family rarely turns on the lights in the front of the house — just in case.

Dwight and Floyd study hard Both brought home good report cards this week.

They said they don't know what the future will bring, nor do they know what they would like to be, but they are optimistic.

Said Floyd: "The same boy who kept making faces at me, he doesn't make faces at me any more. Now he's my friend."

Birthday Party

Mrs. Alfred Anderson, who was 84, and Mrs. Monroe Harrison were honored at a double birthday party at the Harrison home Tuesday evening. Games were played with prizes going to Carol Harrison, Mrs. Axel Carlson, Mrs. Warren Rose, Mrs. Alfred Dahl Sr. and Mrs. Henry Rose. Gifts of money were presented the honor guests and a buffet lunch was served.

Woodrow Wilson Home Is Shrine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning Monday, there'll be another shrine for Washington tourists: Woodrow Wilson's last home.

It's a handsome red brick house of Georgian design at 2340 S Street in northwest Washington. There the World War I President lived from March 4, 1921 when he left the White House until he died Feb. 3, 1924.

It is a memorial to a marriage as well as to a statesman.

Among the relics the visitors will see is the high-backed, leather-covered chair used by Wilson at White House Cabinet meetings. On the back is a card in Wilson's handwriting which reads:

"Presented to my dear wife whose inspiration meant so much while I occupied this chair, Woodrow Wilson."

She was Edith Bolling (Galt) Wilson, whose will on her death in 1961 gave the house to the National Trust for Historic Preservation to be a memorial in honor of her husband. The National Trust has now prepared it for the public.

Wilson bought the house sight unseen in 1920 as he was preparing to turn the White House over to Warren G. Harding. He knew Mrs. Wilson wanted it; she had found it while house-hunting. "The one house I felt would qualify in every particular."

Mrs. Wilson wrote in her memoirs 18 years later:

"Bless his dear heart! I was overcome."

She also told how, the first day they visited the house together, the President had a Secret Service man scoop up a small piece of sod "which, with a key to one of the doors, my husband presented to me—the sod representing the land, and the key the house."

It was an old Scotch custom, that the Scotch-descended Wilson remembered.

Mrs. Wilson, whom the President married in 1915 after the death of his first wife, described in her memoirs the suffering that Wilson went through after his paralytic stroke in 1919.

She stood guard at the White House between him and all the troubles she could, and some politicians jealously accused her of interfering in matters of state.

By her own account:

"I studied every paper, sent from the different secretaries or senators, and tried to digest and present in tabloid form the things that, despite my vigilance, had to go to the President.

"I, myself, never made a single decision regarding the disposition of public affairs. The only decision that was mine was what was important and what was not, and the very important decision of when to present matters to my husband."

In the pleasant house on S Street there were no great matters of national urgency, but Mrs. Wilson maintained to the end a close watch over her beloved invalid.

One of the memories she treasured over the years was of their arrival in S Street just after Harding had been inaugurated, and the Wilsons' days of glory were over.

A crowd of 20,000 people filled the street in front of their new home, full of affection and warmly cheering.

Two Negro Boys O.K. In School At Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Dwight Armstrong is vice president of his sixth grade class. The most remarkable fact about this is that Dwight and his younger brother, Floyd, are the only Negroes in Graymont Elementary School.

Floyd also is gaining acceptance among his white classmates. Just the other day, he said, he was surprised when he was picked to captain the touch football team that day.

Dwight, 11, and Floyd, 10, made history along with 20 other Negroes in Birmingham, Mobile, Huntsville and Tuskegee when they attended white schools—under federal court orders.

The early furor over school desegregation apparently is dying down and Dwight and Floyd both note a growing acceptance by the other pupils.

"I feel kind of like I used to going to school. No different. I feel better," Dwight said during an interview. The more talkative of the two boys, he looked at Floyd.

"I feel natural, like I usually feel," Floyd said.

They admit their feelings are quite different than when they entered the school in early September. Then they were nervous, excited and — as they remember it — alone.

"I said to myself, 'I don't care what they say, I know who I am and what I am,' " Dwight said, explaining his initial reaction.

Their father, James Armstrong Sr., a Birmingham barber, has an explanation for his boys being tense, but not afraid: "They went to jail during the demonstrations, I guess that got the fear out of them."

There have been a few incidents — an occasional trip, or push, but nothing unpleasant lately. Armstrong, who moved into the neighborhood five years ago, keeps a guard at his house all night, and the family rarely turns on the lights in the front of the house — just in case.

Dwight and Floyd study hard Both brought home good report cards this week.

They said they don't know what the future will bring, nor do they know what they would like to be, but they are optimistic.

Said Floyd: "The same boy who kept making faces at me, he doesn't make faces at me any more. Now he's my friend."

Birthday Party

Mrs. Alfred Anderson, who was 84, and Mrs. Monroe Harrison were honored at a double birthday party at the Harrison home Tuesday evening. Games were played with prizes going to Carol Harrison, Mrs. Axel Carlson, Mrs. Warren Rose, Mrs. Alfred Dahl Sr. and Mrs. Henry Rose. Gifts of money were presented the honor guests and a buffet lunch was served.

Woodrow Wilson Home Is Shrine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning Monday, there'll be another shrine for Washington tourists: Woodrow Wilson's last home.

It's a handsome red brick house of Georgian design at 2340 S Street in northwest Washington. There the World War I President lived from March 4, 1921 when he left the White House until he died Feb. 3, 1924.

It is a memorial to a marriage as well as to a statesman.

Among the relics the visitors will see is the high-backed, leather-covered chair used by Wilson at White House Cabinet meetings. On the back is a card in Wilson's handwriting which reads:

"Presented to my dear wife whose inspiration meant so much while I occupied this chair, Woodrow Wilson."

She was Edith Bolling (Galt) Wilson, whose will on her death in 1961 gave the house to the National Trust for Historic Preservation to be a memorial in honor of her husband. The National Trust has now prepared it for the public.

Wilson bought the house sight unseen in 1920 as he was preparing to turn the White House over to Warren G. Harding. He knew Mrs. Wilson wanted it; she had found it while house-hunting. "The one house I felt would qualify in every particular."

Mrs. Wilson wrote in her memoirs 18 years later:

"Bless his dear heart! I was overcome."

She also told how, the first day they visited the house together, the President had a Secret Service man scoop up a small piece of sod "which, with a key to one of the doors, my husband presented to me—the sod representing the land, and the key the house."

It was an old Scotch custom, that the Scotch-descended Wilson remembered.

Mrs. Wilson, whom the President married in 1915 after the death of his first wife, described in her memoirs the suffering that Wilson went through after his paralytic stroke in 1919.

She stood guard at the White House between him and all the troubles she could, and some politicians jealously accused her of interfering in matters of state.

By her own account:

"I studied every paper, sent from the different secretaries or senators, and tried to digest and present in tabloid form the things that, despite my vigilance, had to go to the President.

"I, myself, never made a single decision regarding the disposition of public affairs. The only decision that was mine was what was important and what was not, and the very important decision of when to present matters to my husband."

In the pleasant house on S Street there were no great matters of national urgency, but Mrs. Wilson maintained to the end a close watch over her beloved invalid.

One of the memories she treasured over the years was of their arrival in S Street just after Harding had been inaugurated, and the Wilsons' days of glory were over.

A crowd of 20,000 people filled the street in front of their new home, full of affection and warmly cheering.

Names Forged

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Frank Simancik, 51, pleaded guilty in Macomb County Circuit Court Wednesday to charges of forging signatures on nominating petitions endorsing his candidacy for the Warren City Council. Judge James Spier ordered Simancik to pay a $350 fine or serve 60 days in jail. Simancik was disqualified from the primary after the forgery was discovered.

Wildlife Controls To Be Intensified

Obtaining maximum use and enjoyment of wildlife resources were stressed in a 2-day Forest Service meeting held in forestry offices here Wednesday and Thursday, with officers of the U S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Michigan Conservation Department also participating.

The first sesion was devoted to study of wildlife requirements, with officers of the State Conservation Department ably assisting in presenting detailed information. The second phase was modifications and adaptions which can be made in land management to produce this.

Reservation of openings for birds, with plantings; better watershed management to control sedimentation, which has a big effect of fishing quality of streams; planting or preservation of stream cover, for combating warm water problems; control of cutting, to preserve food species for wildlife, and road building design are included. Planning has been underway 12 months.

"We are interested in all forms of wildlife, with the eagle, osprey and sandhill crane, for example, receiving equal consideration with game fish, birds and animals. With a concerted effort with the state Conservation Department and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, we should achieve our objectives much more rapidly. The objectives are the same as those of the state conservation department," William, Taylor, wildlife manager for the Forest Service said.

"Plans of the federal and state agencies," he said, "have been dovetailed for years. More intense management for wildlife is scheduled similarly in coordinated programs, phasing in with recreation, timber and other land use planning."

Filmland Actor Becomes Writer

BELEVEDERE, Calif. (AP) —Sterling Hayden, a Hollywood actor for 18 of his 48 years, is embarking on a new career — writing.

Hayden met with newsmen in Belevedere to discuss his recently published autobiography, "Wanderer." He said he is working 12 hours a day, 7 days a week on other projects, including a novel.

"I've always had it in the back of my mind to be a writer," Hayden said, "but I never had the guts to do something original."

County Voting Can't Skip '64

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has ruled a plan to hold the first election of county officials under the new constitution in 1966 — and in effect extend their present terms an additional two years — would be unconstitutional.

The opinion will force a legislative interim committee working on implementation of the new document to backtrack on one of its main recommendations.

It also contradicts an informal opinion given to the committee earlier by a member of Kelley's staff.

The implementation committee had decided previously to recommend that county officers be placed on the ballot in 1966, to avoid overcrowding the 1964 ballot.

The committee, with the backing of Asst. Atty. Gen. Stanton Faville, had felt this would be possible under constitutional language which says officials shall "serve until their successors are elected."

Faville and Kelley both said the constitution provided the legislature with no power to extend county officials' terms, but they disagreed on whether the same could be accomplished, in effect, simply by not providing that they run in 1964.

Kelley said "the will of the people as expressed in the Michigan Constitution of 1963 is crystal clear. County officials must be elected at the general election to be held in 1964."

Noblet Elected Forestry Board Leader For 1964

At the fall meeting of the Michigan State Board of Registration for Foresters held in East Lansing, Oct. 11 U. J. Noblet, consulting forester of Houghton and former head of the Michigan Tech School of Forestry was elected chairman.

Graduate foresters who became registered members of their profession by action of the board included Edward E. Eckart, assistant district ranger, Mackinac State Forest, Newberry.

The Foresters Registration Boar dis composed of 5 professional foresters appointed by the Governor. They include Noblet and Robert E. Schmeling, manager of the Woodlands Department, Mead Corp., Escanaba, from the Upper Peninsula.

Names Forged

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Frank Simancik, 51, pleaded guilty in Macomb County Circuit Court Wednesday to charges of forging signatures on nominating petitions endorsing his candidacy for the Warren City Council. Judge James Spier ordered Simancik to pay a $350 fine or serve 60 days in jail. Simancik was disqualified from the primary after the forgery was discovered.

Wildlife Controls To Be Intensified

Obtaining maximum use and enjoyment of wildlife resources were stressed in a 2-day Forest Service meeting held in forestry offices here Wednesday and Thursday, with officers of the U S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Michigan Conservation Department also participating.

The first sesion was devoted to study of wildlife requirements, with officers of the State Conservation Department ably assisting in presenting detailed information. The second phase was modifications and adaptions which can be made in land management to produce this.

Reservation of openings for birds, with plantings; better watershed management to control sedimentation, which has a big effect of fishing quality of streams; planting or preservation of stream cover, for combating warm water problems; control of cutting, to preserve food species for wildlife, and road building design are included. Planning has been underway 12 months.

"We are interested in all forms of wildlife, with the eagle, osprey and sandhill crane, for example, receiving equal consideration with game fish, birds and animals. With a concerted effort with the state Conservation Department and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, we should achieve our objectives much more rapidly. The objectives are the same as those of the state conservation department," William, Taylor, wildlife manager for the Forest Service said.

"Plans of the federal and state agencies," he said, "have been dovetailed for years. More intense management for wildlife is scheduled similarly in coordinated programs, phasing in with recreation, timber and other land use planning."

Filmland Actor Becomes Writer

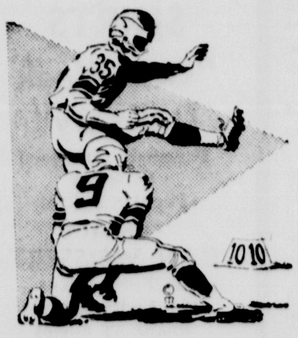

BELEVEDERE, Calif. (AP) —Sterling Hayden, a Hollywood actor for 18 of his 48 years, is embarking on a new career — writing.

Hayden met with newsmen in Belevedere to discuss his recently published autobiography, "Wanderer." He said he is working 12 hours a day, 7 days a week on other projects, including a novel.

"I've always had it in the back of my mind to be a writer," Hayden said, "but I never had the guts to do something original."

County Voting Can't Skip '64

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has ruled a plan to hold the first election of county officials under the new constitution in 1966 — and in effect extend their present terms an additional two years — would be unconstitutional.

The opinion will force a legislative interim committee working on implementation of the new document to backtrack on one of its main recommendations.

It also contradicts an informal opinion given to the committee earlier by a member of Kelley's staff.

The implementation committee had decided previously to recommend that county officers be placed on the ballot in 1966, to avoid overcrowding the 1964 ballot.

The committee, with the backing of Asst. Atty. Gen. Stanton Faville, had felt this would be possible under constitutional language which says officials shall "serve until their successors are elected."

Faville and Kelley both said the constitution provided the legislature with no power to extend county officials' terms, but they disagreed on whether the same could be accomplished, in effect, simply by not providing that they run in 1964.

Kelley said "the will of the people as expressed in the Michigan Constitution of 1963 is crystal clear. County officials must be elected at the general election to be held in 1964."

Chene Headlines Pro Wrestling Card Saturday

Of all the wrestlers who have thrilled mat fans the world over none has captured the imagination of the wrestling public as has Leaping Larry Chene.

Larry Chene

Born near Calumet, in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, Chene moved with his family to Detroit as a youngster.

A natural athlete, Chene first began making a name for himself at St. Bernard High School. There he starred in five sports, earning recognition on numerous all star teams.

He attended the Detroit Conservatory of Music, and nursed a dream of becoming a concert pianist. Even though the lure of the sports world proved too strong, Larry's musical skill remains a part of him.

Upon discharge from the Navy, Chene contacted Bert Ruby, a veteran mat star, who had trained many of the nation's finest young wrestlers. Impressed with Chene's determination and ability, Ruby set out to teach him a life-time's accumation of wrestling knowledge.

That Chene learned his lessons well is evidenced by his record of spectacular mat success. Popular, humble and devoted to his profession, he has won fame and fortune thruoghout the country.

Chene will headline the wrestling card Saturday night at the Escanaba Area Public High School gym starting at 8:30. He will meet Ricki Cortez, 6-foot, 250 pound Mexican grappler.

The card will include two other heavyweights and two midgets and also will feature a tag match with the heavies and midgets in the ring together.

The program is sponsored by the Escanaba Exchange Club.

Detroit Bid Is Impressive

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (AP)—Detroit today put forward an impressive case for the right ot stage the 1968 Olympic Games and moved into the favorite spot as the International Olympic Committee prepared to vote.

Four cities — Detroit, Lyon, France, Buenos Aires and Mexico City—are bidding for the 1968 games.

Each delegation had 45 minutes to argue its case. The vote will be taken later today.

"That was a knockout," said one observer after Detroit's presentation. "I would certainly like to see Detroit get the games after seeing and hearing what they can do."

Detroit presented its case immediately after Buenos Aires, Mexico City and Lyon get their chance this afternoon. Gov. George Romney, Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Fred Matthaei, president of the Detroit organizing committee were the men on the platform.

Forecaster Sees Packers Losing To Cards Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay's seasoned defending champions and the ambitious St. Louis Cardinals meet Sunday in an important National Football League game that could decide the fate of both clubs.

Since losing their opening game to Chicago, the Packers have rolled to four straight victories on their way to a Nov. 17 rematch with the Bears. The youthful Cardinals, who split two with tough Pittsburgh, are only one game behind unbeaten Cleveland in the Eastern Conference. Wally Lemm's Cards still are smarting from the memory of their 17-0 defeat by Green Bay last year.

The game in St. Louis tops the card for the weekend. The two unbeaten teams, Chicago and Cleveland, are expected to roll along, the Bears at Los Angeles and the Browns at home against Philadelphia. Roman Gabriel gets his shot at quarterback for Los Angeles in the Coliseum against the Minnesota Vikings. Don Shula leads his Baltimore team against his old Detroit teammates for the first time at Detroit. Dallas visits New York to find the Giants crawling out of the wreckage left by Jimmy Brown and Washington visits Pittsburgh, giving Ed Brown a chance to limber up his passing arm.

In the American Football League, a Friday night game finds Denver at Boston. On Sunday afternoon there are three more rematches from the program of three weeks ago. San Diego is at Kansas City. Buffalo at Houston and New York at Oakland. In their first meetings, Denver, San Diego, Houston and New York won.

Last week was a little better with the picks, except for the Cleveland game, so the season figure now is 31-20-2. If we could only get even in that AFL. Here goes again, all games Sunday unless otherwise noted.

NFL

St. Louis 28, Green Bay 24—upset of the week. Packers' front four will rush Charlie Johnson like he never has been rushed before but the kid has it. If Green Bay can give the Vikings 28 points, no reason the Cards' balanced offense can't get as many.

Cleveland 35, Philadelphia 21—Browns may let down after beating Giants but they pack too much power for the chopped up Eagles.

Chicago 28, San Francisco 10—Bears run it up as high as they want on last stop of their California junket.

Baltimore 20, Detroit 17—Shula wants this one the worst way against his old Lion buddies. Detroit toughest in league on pass defense but Johnny Unitas will find a way.

Minnesota 28, Los Angeles 14—Vikings can score but have trouble stopping anybody. Tommy Mason should have a big day.

New York 28, Dallas 17—Y.A. Tittle picked the Cowboys apart last year, why not now when they are 1-4?

Pittsburgh 23, Washington 14—Steelers too tough for Skins leaky defense.

AFL

Boston 20, Denver 14, Friday night—Pats beginning to click and Broncs in trouble with John McCormick hurt.

New York 17, Oakland 14—Jets gave San Diego a scare last week and Raiders have lost four in a row.

San Diego 21, Kansas City 20—Chargers handled Chiefs easily three weeks ago 24-10 although they did lose their only road game, at Denver.

Buffalo 24, Houston 20—Just about last chance for Bills to start moving in the Eastern Division but their pass defense is wide open if George Blanda is having an "on" day.

Unknown Sets Pace In Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Golf's overpowering Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus ranked in the also-ran class as a little-known California professional, Al Geiberger, led the way into the second round of the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Tournament today.

Palmer, troubled by chronic shoulder aches, trailed by four strokes and Nicklaus by eight as the field swung toward the 36-hole point of this sixth annual event on the PGA autumn circuit.

The 26-year-old Geiberger, whose only official PGA tournament victory was registered just one year ago in the Ontario, Calif., Open, shot a 35-32—67 cpening round Thursday.

One shot back as play was resumed, and the sponsors hoped for no rain, were Art Wall Jr., Lionel Hebert and Gay Brewer.

A cloudburst hit the Paradise Country Club course with a quarter of the field still playing.

Eight players were tied at 69, including tournament veterans Don January and Ted Kroll, British Ryder Cup member George Will and Canada's George Knudson.

St. Jean Of Newberry:

Northern's End Specialist In Kick-Blocking

MARQUETTE — Everyone seems to have a specialty these days, and Len St. Jean, Northern Michigan University football player, is no exception. His specialty is the hazardous business of blocking place kicks.

The 6-1, 238-pound end also is a generalist of sorts. His over-all objective is to harass, frustrate, and immobilize the opposition.

So far this season St. Jean has blocked two conversion kicks and a field goal attempt during his frequent forays into enemy backfields.

Coach F. L. (Frosty) Ferzacca gives the Newberry, Mich., senior much of the credit for Northern's stingy defensive record—less than nine points per game while posting a 2-2-1 mark.

Last year St. Jean earned all-state honors and a reputation for fearlessness. This year he's carrying on like a one-man wrecking crew.

It's a joy, and a bit awesome to watch St. Jean barrel through an alley set up by his teammates and throw himself in front of a place-kicker's foot. He knocks the ball down with his chest, stomach, or whatever else is handy. He ruined extra-point attempts for Parsons College and the University of Detroit and blocked a field-goal try in a 0-0 duel with Hillsdale College.

Northern, plagued with a shortage of ends, used St. Jean both ways early in the season. Against Central Michigan University last Saturday, however, Ferzacca decided to rest him on offense, let him go full-tilt on defense. This move, among others, paid off with a 19-0 victory over Central. With St. Jean splintering the Central line, the Chips moved the ball only 19 yards on the ground. Larruping Leonard spilled Central quarterback Pat Boyd for losses of 9, 12 and 13 yards while making himself known as the fifth man in the visitors' backfield.

The wedge-shaped lineman turned in one of his best stoppers against Parsons. Northern was leading 7-0 with less than two minutes remaining in the first half. The Iowa club, smarting from a penalty which had nullified a 73-yard touchdown play, was poised on Northern's 36-yard line. Parsons halfback Joe Drakes took a pitchout and was on his way to daylight and a touchdown when his forward progress was halted suddenly by the one man between him and paydirt —Len St. Jean.

Death In Ring Will Be Probed

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore grand jury, investigating the death of boxer Ernie Knox, is expected to hear testimony today from the chairman of the Maryland Athletic Commission.

Also supboenaed before the panel were the two commission physicians who examined Knox and his Monday night opponent, and the two weigh-in inspectors.

Knox, a 26-year-old Baltimore boxer, was knocked out in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout by Wayne Bethea, a 31-year-old former title contender from New York.

Sitting down when he was counted out, Knox toppled over and was unconscious for 10 minutes before being removed from hte ring on a stretcher. He was admitted to a hospital, where he went into a coma at 1 a.m. Tuesday and died about 6 a.m. Wednesday of a brain hemorrhage.

There was an immediate outcry in some quarters for the abolition or more stringent controls of boxing. But the death was not considered a matter for the grand jury to investigate until a medical examiner reported Thursday that Knox's body weighed only 153 pounds.

At noon time Monday, Knox weighed in at 178 pounds, as compared with 205 for Bethea.

Jack Cohen, executive secretary of the Athletic Commission, and Dr. Charles Tommasello, one of the commission's physicians, both confirmed that Knox weighed 178.

But an autopsy report by Dr. Charles S. Petty, assistant medical examiner, said the body weighed 153 pounds on the scale at the city morgue.

Big Ten Lead Is At Stake

CHICAGO (AP) — Outright hold on top spot in the Big Ten football title race should be determined Saturday by Wisconsin's clash at Iowa.

The winner will move into the lead with a 2-0 record. A tie would turn the No. 1 position over to Illinois — if it defeats Minnesota. An Illini victory in their homecoming engagement would build a 2-0-1 record.

Ohio State with 1-0-1 leaves Big Ten competition to invade Southern California.

Completing the conference schedule, Indiana (0-3) is at Michigan State (0-0-1) without the services of ace halfback Marv Woodson and Purdue (0-1) is at Michigan (0-0-1) for a regionally televised game.

Northwestern hosts Miami of Ohio.

Wells May Not See Grid Action

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dick Wells, Michigan's sophomore right halfback, will dress for the Wolverines' football game with Purdue here Saturday, but the hip bruise that has troubled him in recent weeks may keep him on the sidelines again.

Wells was the Wolverines biggest question mark Thursday as they worked on sharpening their pass defense in preparation for the meeting with the Boilermakers.

The Purdue team was not expected to arrive here until late Friday, prefering to wind up practice at home rather than in Michigan Stadium.

Frazer's Albion Team Sets Pace In State Loop

By The Associated Press

Albion appears to have drawn the easiest assignment as Michigan colleges prepare for another Saturday of football.

The MIAA league-leaders play winless Olivet in one of three league contests. Kalamazoo is at Alma and Adrian at Hope in the others.

Albion has a 2-2 overall record, but is 2-0 in the MIAA. One of its victories was over surprising Adrian. It moved the Britons into first place and they strengthened their position with another last week.

Olivet, meanwhile, has not won a game despite the individual efforts of quarterback Irv Sigler, who leads the MIAA in both rushing yardage and total offense.

Michigan and Michigan State are both at home, the Wolverines playing host to Purdue and the Spartans meeting Indiana at East Lansing.

Detroit, hoping to break a three-game losing streak, is at Cincinnati, while Western Michigan, still looking for its first win, plays host to Kent State in its homecoming game at Kalamazoo.

Michigan Tech is at home against Bemidji State in an Upper Peninsula headliner. A victory by the Huskies would move them into at least a first place tie in the Northern Intercollegiate Conference. Bemidji currently leads with a 2-0-1 record, while Tech and St. Cloud State are both 2-1.

Northern Michigan faces a toughie when it travels to Southern Illinois. Northern defeated Central Michigan last week, and may just have enough left to knock off highly regarded SIU.

Central Michigan and Eastern Michigan are on the road, with CMU at Western Illinois in an IIAC tussle and Eastern looking for its second victory at Findaly, Ohio.

Hillsdale takes on Baldwin-Wallace.

Ferris State is at Eastern Illinois. The Bulldogs have been having their troubles, despite some fine work by the defensive unit, and are currently 2-3.

Winless Wayne State will be on the road, too, meeting Western Reserve of Ohio in a President's Athletic Conference game.

The Air Force junior varsity will be at Grand Rapids JC in the final game on Saturday's schedule.

Northwood, one of only three winning college teams in the state, is idle Saturday.

Losing String Is In Danger

HANOVER-HORTON (AP) — Hanover-Horton High may come to the end of an unbroken football streak tonight.

The record is an unbroken streak of 37 straight losses over five seasons.

The team scored just one touchdown in losing its first four games this year.

But H-H meets Jackson Northwest tonight, and the Jackson team has five straight losses this year. Last year, H-H led Northwest 7-6, but lost 13-7.

"Friday's going to be our night," said Gordon Gault, 208-pound senior tackle for H-H.

"I guess you could say things have improved," said Ken Sippell, who was H-H's first coach when football was reactivated at the school in 1958 after a 25-year absence.

"We've lost 48-6, 7-0, 48-0 and 39-0 this season. Last fall we were beaten 73-0 and 72-0 on two successive Fridays."

Under Sippell, the squad had a 0-6 record. Then Bill Shushok coached the team during three 0-9 seasons. Bob Williams is coach this year and "I'm not complaining," he said, "I knew what I was getting into."

Hanover-Horton dropped football in the early 1930s when a player died from an injury.

Football came back in the late 1950s when the board of education allotted more than $30,000 to construct a field, light it and purchase equipment.

Illinois Team Tops Grid Poll

Northern Illinois, paced to five straight victories by remarkable George Bork, landed the top spot in the first weekly Associated Press ranking of the nation's small college football teams.

Unbeaten Florida A&M and Texas A&I also drew powerful support for No. 1 ranking from the special panel. Delaware, Wittenberg, San Diego State and St. John's of Minnesota were close behind.

Kearney, Neb. State, Clarion, Pa. State, College of Emporia, Kan., and McNeese State, La. rounded out the Top Ten with the last two tied for 10th place.

Luis Predicts TV Knockout

NEW YORK (AP)—Luis Rodriguez, the 8-5 favorite, predicts he will stop undefeated Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure within seven rounds of their 10-round television fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The former welterweight ampion from Cuba and Miami Beach, Fla., never has been rated an authentic banger even though he has 22 knockouts to his credit.

But two things have made Rodriguez, 26, more confident than usual. One was his 7th round kayo of Denny Moyer, the strong-jawed Portland, Ore. middleweight contender, last August. The other is McClure's classic, standup style of boxing.

"If I can knock out Moyer, I can knock out McClure, too," said Luis. "Then, I like the way McClure boxes. Nice and straight. I set him up."

"I think he is taking me too lightly," said McClure, winner of all of his 14 pro fights, six by knockouts. "Perhaps I can teach him a lesson."

McClure, 24, is ranked as the No. 7 middleweight contender by the WBA.

Sports In Brief

NEW YORK (AP)—Yale Lary of the Detroit Lions leads the National Football League in punting this week, averaging 50.3 yards a punt. His teammate, Gail Cogdill, is tied for second in touchdown passes received. Cogdill, Tommy McDonald of the Philadelphia Eagles and Sonny Randall of the St. Louis Cardinals each has caught five touchdown passes. Mike Ditka of the Chicago Bears leads the NFL with seven.

Wylie Names Esky Runners For U. P. Meet

Coach Henry Wylie today named his Escanaba Eskymo team that will compete in the Upper Peninsula Class A-B cross country championship meet at Marquette Saturday.

Wylie listed Jeff Jurmu, Tom Fisher, Blaine Dickson, Ray Anderson, Kent Anderson, Tom Vader and Phil Brown with Rick Dewar as alternate.

The C-D section of the meet will begin at 11 and the A-B runners will start the two-mile course at the Marquette Country Club at 11:30.

Escanaba placed third in the U. P. last year. Rudyard was first, Sault Ste. Marie second in Class A-B.

Honor Parents At Esky Game

Parents of Escanaba High School football players will be honored in pre-game ceremonies at the Eskymo-Negaunee contest here Saturday.

Parents are asked to meet at the north gate of the field at 2 p. m.

Arrangements are in charge of the Eskymo Fan Club which honors the players' parents each year.

Ranked Collegiate Teams Face Tough Week Tests

By The Associated Press

The nation's major college football teams shift their attention from cross-country feuding to backyard squabbles this weekend, but it just means a change to homegrown trouble for most of the ranked teams

Seven of the Top Ten teams have conference games scheduled Saturday, and all but one could be placing their high standing in jeopardy.

Only bulky Mississippi, 2-0-1 for the season and No. 5 in the nation, ranks as a lop-sided favorite against Tulane, which h scored only 10 points in losing four straight, in a Southeast Conference affair.

The other ranked teams going against conference opponents—No. 1 Texas, No. 2 Wisconsin, No. 6 Oklahoma, No. 7 Illinois, No. 8 Georgia Tech and No. 9 Alabama — anticipate much tougher opposition.

One of the big ones takes place in Little Rock Saturday night where the Razorbacks, 2 will try to stop mighty Texas, 4-0. Arkansas, co-favorite to win the Southwest Conference title the pre-season picking, was shocked 14-10 at Baylor last week.

Texas displayed a brutal ground game in knocking over Oklahoma 28-7 last week and taking over the nation's No. 1 spot.

The Big Ten lead goes on the line in Iowa City where unbeaten Wisconsin takes on Iowa. They are tied for the top with 1-0 league marks. Wisconsin is 3-0 over-all and Iowa is 2-0-1.

Another Big Ten match has seventh-ranked Illinois, tied for third with a 1-0-1 league mark at home against a Minnesota team that may be better than its 1-2 record would indicate.

Oklahoma, now 2-1, opens its Big Eight play against Kansas, 2-2.

The feature of the Southeast Conference schedule could be the test of Georgia Tech by Auburn. Bobby Dodd's Engineers are eighth in the nation and 3-1 over-all, but Auburn comes into it unbeaten in four games and a definite threat.

Another big one has ninth-ranked Alabama, 3-1, vs. Tennessee, 1-3, at Birmingham.

Third ranked and unbeaten Pitt travels to West Virginia The Mountaineers are 2-2 and could be primed for an upset.

Among the other ranked teams, No. 4 Ohio State, 2-0-1 visits Southern California, 2-2. 2-2. Navy, 3-1 and tied for 10th, plays Virginia Military, 1-2-1 at Norfolk. Northwestern, 3-1 and sharing the No. 10 spot, is at home against Miami of Ohio, 2-1-1.

Chene Headlines Pro Wrestling Card Saturday

Of all the wrestlers who have thrilled mat fans the world over none has captured the imagination of the wrestling public as has Leaping Larry Chene.

Born near Calumet, in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, Chene moved with his family to Detroit as a youngster.

A natural athlete, Chene first began making a name for himself at St. Bernard High School. There he starred in five sports, earning recognition on numerous all star teams.

He attended the Detroit Conservatory of Music, and nursed a dream of becoming a concert pianist. Even though the lure of the sports world proved too strong, Larry's musical skill remains a part of him.

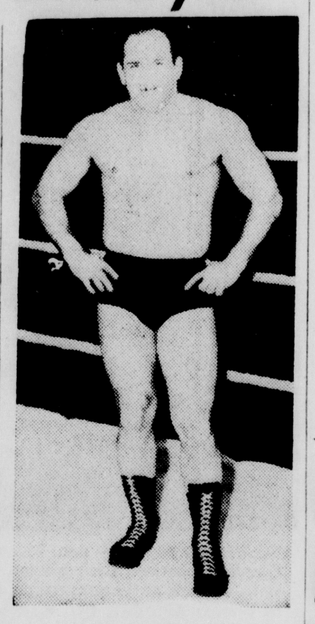

Upon discharge from the Navy, Chene contacted Bert Ruby, a veteran mat star, who had trained many of the nation's finest young wrestlers. Impressed with Chene's determination and ability, Ruby set out to teach him a life-time's accumation of wrestling knowledge.

That Chene learned his lessons well is evidenced by his record of spectacular mat success. Popular, humble and devoted to his profession, he has won fame and fortune thruoghout the country.

Chene will headline the wrestling card Saturday night at the Escanaba Area Public High School gym starting at 8:30. He will meet Ricki Cortez, 6-foot, 250 pound Mexican grappler.

The card will include two other heavyweights and two midgets and also will feature a tag match with the heavies and midgets in the ring together.

The program is sponsored by the Escanaba Exchange Club.

Luis Predicts TV Knockout

NEW YORK (AP)—Luis Rodriguez, the 8-5 favorite, predicts he will stop undefeated Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure within seven rounds of their 10-round television fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The former welterweight ampion from Cuba and Miami Beach, Fla., never has been rated an authentic banger even though he has 22 knockouts to his credit.

But two things have made Rodriguez, 26, more confident than usual. One was his 7th round kayo of Denny Moyer, the strong-jawed Portland, Ore. middleweight contender, last August. The other is McClure's classic, standup style of boxing.

"If I can knock out Moyer, I can knock out McClure, too," said Luis. "Then, I like the way McClure boxes. Nice and straight. I set him up."

"I think he is taking me too lightly," said McClure, winner of all of his 14 pro fights, six by knockouts. "Perhaps I can teach him a lesson."

McClure, 24, is ranked as the No. 7 middleweight contender by the WBA.

Sports In Brief

NEW YORK (AP)—Yale Lary of the Detroit Lions leads the National Football League in punting this week, averaging 50.3 yards a punt. His teammate, Gail Cogdill, is tied for second in touchdown passes received. Cogdill, Tommy McDonald of the Philadelphia Eagles and Sonny Randall of the St. Louis Cardinals each has caught five touchdown passes. Mike Ditka of the Chicago Bears leads the NFL with seven.

Detroit Bid Is Impressive

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (AP)—Detroit today put forward an impressive case for the right ot stage the 1968 Olympic Games and moved into the favorite spot as the International Olympic Committee prepared to vote.

Four cities — Detroit, Lyon, France, Buenos Aires and Mexico City—are bidding for the 1968 games.

Each delegation had 45 minutes to argue its case. The vote will be taken later today.

"That was a knockout," said one observer after Detroit's presentation. "I would certainly like to see Detroit get the games after seeing and hearing what they can do."

Detroit presented its case immediately after Buenos Aires, Mexico City and Lyon get their chance this afternoon. Gov. George Romney, Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Fred Matthaei, president of the Detroit organizing committee were the men on the platform.

Forecaster Sees Packers Losing To Cards Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay's seasoned defending champions and the ambitious St. Louis Cardinals meet Sunday in an important National Football League game that could decide the fate of both clubs.

Since losing their opening game to Chicago, the Packers have rolled to four straight victories on their way to a Nov. 17 rematch with the Bears. The youthful Cardinals, who split two with tough Pittsburgh, are only one game behind unbeaten Cleveland in the Eastern Conference. Wally Lemm's Cards still are smarting from the memory of their 17-0 defeat by Green Bay last year.

The game in St. Louis tops the card for the weekend. The two unbeaten teams, Chicago and Cleveland, are expected to roll along, the Bears at Los Angeles and the Browns at home against Philadelphia. Roman Gabriel gets his shot at quarterback for Los Angeles in the Coliseum against the Minnesota Vikings. Don Shula leads his Baltimore team against his old Detroit teammates for the first time at Detroit. Dallas visits New York to find the Giants crawling out of the wreckage left by Jimmy Brown and Washington visits Pittsburgh, giving Ed Brown a chance to limber up his passing arm.

In the American Football League, a Friday night game finds Denver at Boston. On Sunday afternoon there are three more rematches from the program of three weeks ago. San Diego is at Kansas City. Buffalo at Houston and New York at Oakland. In their first meetings, Denver, San Diego, Houston and New York won.

Last week was a little better with the picks, except for the Cleveland game, so the season figure now is 31-20-2. If we could only get even in that AFL. Here goes again, all games Sunday unless otherwise noted.

NFL

St. Louis 28, Green Bay 24—upset of the week. Packers' front four will rush Charlie Johnson like he never has been rushed before but the kid has it. If Green Bay can give the Vikings 28 points, no reason the Cards' balanced offense can't get as many.

Cleveland 35, Philadelphia 21—Browns may let down after beating Giants but they pack too much power for the chopped up Eagles.

Chicago 28, San Francisco 10—Bears run it up as high as they want on last stop of their California junket.

Baltimore 20, Detroit 17—Shula wants this one the worst way against his old Lion buddies. Detroit toughest in league on pass defense but Johnny Unitas will find a way.

Minnesota 28, Los Angeles 14—Vikings can score but have trouble stopping anybody. Tommy Mason should have a big day.

New York 28, Dallas 17—Y.A. Tittle picked the Cowboys apart last year, why not now when they are 1-4?

Pittsburgh 23, Washington 14—Steelers too tough for Skins leaky defense.

AFL

Boston 20, Denver 14, Friday night—Pats beginning to click and Broncs in trouble with John McCormick hurt.

New York 17, Oakland 14—Jets gave San Diego a scare last week and Raiders have lost four in a row.

San Diego 21, Kansas City 20—Chargers handled Chiefs easily three weeks ago 24-10 although they did lose their only road game, at Denver.

Buffalo 24, Houston 20—Just about last chance for Bills to start moving in the Eastern Division but their pass defense is wide open if George Blanda is having an "on" day.

Unknown Sets Pace In Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Golf's overpowering Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus ranked in the also-ran class as a little-known California professional, Al Geiberger, led the way into the second round of the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Tournament today.

Palmer, troubled by chronic shoulder aches, trailed by four strokes and Nicklaus by eight as the field swung toward the 36-hole point of this sixth annual event on the PGA autumn circuit.

The 26-year-old Geiberger, whose only official PGA tournament victory was registered just one year ago in the Ontario, Calif., Open, shot a 35-32—67 cpening round Thursday.

One shot back as play was resumed, and the sponsors hoped for no rain, were Art Wall Jr., Lionel Hebert and Gay Brewer.

A cloudburst hit the Paradise Country Club course with a quarter of the field still playing.

Eight players were tied at 69, including tournament veterans Don January and Ted Kroll, British Ryder Cup member George Will and Canada's George Knudson.

Ranked Collegiate Teams Face Tough Week Tests

By The Associated Press

The nation's major college football teams shift their attention from cross-country feuding to backyard squabbles this weekend, but it just means a change to homegrown trouble for most of the ranked teams

Seven of the Top Ten teams have conference games scheduled Saturday, and all but one could be placing their high standing in jeopardy.

Only bulky Mississippi, 2-0-1 for the season and No. 5 in the nation, ranks as a lop-sided favorite against Tulane, which h scored only 10 points in losing four straight, in a Southeast Conference affair.

The other ranked teams going against conference opponents—No. 1 Texas, No. 2 Wisconsin, No. 6 Oklahoma, No. 7 Illinois, No. 8 Georgia Tech and No. 9 Alabama — anticipate much tougher opposition.

One of the big ones takes place in Little Rock Saturday night where the Razorbacks, 2 will try to stop mighty Texas, 4-0. Arkansas, co-favorite to win the Southwest Conference title the pre-season picking, was shocked 14-10 at Baylor last week.

Texas displayed a brutal ground game in knocking over Oklahoma 28-7 last week and taking over the nation's No. 1 spot.

The Big Ten lead goes on the line in Iowa City where unbeaten Wisconsin takes on Iowa. They are tied for the top with 1-0 league marks. Wisconsin is 3-0 over-all and Iowa is 2-0-1.

Another Big Ten match has seventh-ranked Illinois, tied for third with a 1-0-1 league mark at home against a Minnesota team that may be better than its 1-2 record would indicate.

Oklahoma, now 2-1, opens its Big Eight play against Kansas, 2-2.

The feature of the Southeast Conference schedule could be the test of Georgia Tech by Auburn. Bobby Dodd's Engineers are eighth in the nation and 3-1 over-all, but Auburn comes into it unbeaten in four games and a definite threat.

Another big one has ninth-ranked Alabama, 3-1, vs. Tennessee, 1-3, at Birmingham.

Third ranked and unbeaten Pitt travels to West Virginia The Mountaineers are 2-2 and could be primed for an upset.

Among the other ranked teams, No. 4 Ohio State, 2-0-1 visits Southern California, 2-2. 2-2. Navy, 3-1 and tied for 10th, plays Virginia Military, 1-2-1 at Norfolk. Northwestern, 3-1 and sharing the No. 10 spot, is at home against Miami of Ohio, 2-1-1.

St. Jean Of Newberry:

Northern's End Specialist In Kick-Blocking

MARQUETTE — Everyone seems to have a specialty these days, and Len St. Jean, Northern Michigan University football player, is no exception. His specialty is the hazardous business of blocking place kicks.

The 6-1, 238-pound end also is a generalist of sorts. His over-all objective is to harass, frustrate, and immobilize the opposition.

So far this season St. Jean has blocked two conversion kicks and a field goal attempt during his frequent forays into enemy backfields.

Coach F. L. (Frosty) Ferzacca gives the Newberry, Mich., senior much of the credit for Northern's stingy defensive record—less than nine points per game while posting a 2-2-1 mark.

Last year St. Jean earned all-state honors and a reputation for fearlessness. This year he's carrying on like a one-man wrecking crew.

It's a joy, and a bit awesome to watch St. Jean barrel through an alley set up by his teammates and throw himself in front of a place-kicker's foot. He knocks the ball down with his chest, stomach, or whatever else is handy. He ruined extra-point attempts for Parsons College and the University of Detroit and blocked a field-goal try in a 0-0 duel with Hillsdale College.

Northern, plagued with a shortage of ends, used St. Jean both ways early in the season. Against Central Michigan University last Saturday, however, Ferzacca decided to rest him on offense, let him go full-tilt on defense. This move, among others, paid off with a 19-0 victory over Central. With St. Jean splintering the Central line, the Chips moved the ball only 19 yards on the ground. Larruping Leonard spilled Central quarterback Pat Boyd for losses of 9, 12 and 13 yards while making himself known as the fifth man in the visitors' backfield.

The wedge-shaped lineman turned in one of his best stoppers against Parsons. Northern was leading 7-0 with less than two minutes remaining in the first half. The Iowa club, smarting from a penalty which had nullified a 73-yard touchdown play, was poised on Northern's 36-yard line. Parsons halfback Joe Drakes took a pitchout and was on his way to daylight and a touchdown when his forward progress was halted suddenly by the one man between him and paydirt —Len St. Jean.

Death In Ring Will Be Probed

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore grand jury, investigating the death of boxer Ernie Knox, is expected to hear testimony today from the chairman of the Maryland Athletic Commission.

Also supboenaed before the panel were the two commission physicians who examined Knox and his Monday night opponent, and the two weigh-in inspectors.

Knox, a 26-year-old Baltimore boxer, was knocked out in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout by Wayne Bethea, a 31-year-old former title contender from New York.

Sitting down when he was counted out, Knox toppled over and was unconscious for 10 minutes before being removed from hte ring on a stretcher. He was admitted to a hospital, where he went into a coma at 1 a.m. Tuesday and died about 6 a.m. Wednesday of a brain hemorrhage.

There was an immediate outcry in some quarters for the abolition or more stringent controls of boxing. But the death was not considered a matter for the grand jury to investigate until a medical examiner reported Thursday that Knox's body weighed only 153 pounds.

At noon time Monday, Knox weighed in at 178 pounds, as compared with 205 for Bethea.

Jack Cohen, executive secretary of the Athletic Commission, and Dr. Charles Tommasello, one of the commission's physicians, both confirmed that Knox weighed 178.

But an autopsy report by Dr. Charles S. Petty, assistant medical examiner, said the body weighed 153 pounds on the scale at the city morgue.

Big Ten Lead Is At Stake

CHICAGO (AP) — Outright hold on top spot in the Big Ten football title race should be determined Saturday by Wisconsin's clash at Iowa.

The winner will move into the lead with a 2-0 record. A tie would turn the No. 1 position over to Illinois — if it defeats Minnesota. An Illini victory in their homecoming engagement would build a 2-0-1 record.

Ohio State with 1-0-1 leaves Big Ten competition to invade Southern California.

Completing the conference schedule, Indiana (0-3) is at Michigan State (0-0-1) without the services of ace halfback Marv Woodson and Purdue (0-1) is at Michigan (0-0-1) for a regionally televised game.

Northwestern hosts Miami of Ohio.

Wells May Not See Grid Action

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dick Wells, Michigan's sophomore right halfback, will dress for the Wolverines' football game with Purdue here Saturday, but the hip bruise that has troubled him in recent weeks may keep him on the sidelines again.

Wells was the Wolverines biggest question mark Thursday as they worked on sharpening their pass defense in preparation for the meeting with the Boilermakers.

The Purdue team was not expected to arrive here until late Friday, prefering to wind up practice at home rather than in Michigan Stadium.

Gafner Named C-C Director

Emil Gafner, president of Gafner Automotive & Machine Co., was appointed a director of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, succeeding John Fawcett, resigned, at the monthly meeting of the board Thursday. President John Anthony presided.

Chamber Manager Walter Lewke reported that the Chamber's tourist folder was assured for distribution at travel shows, travel bureaus, Chambers of Commerce, State Highway Department information lodges and through inquiries to the Chamber. Fifty-thousand copies of the multi-color folder will be printed.

The board also heard plans for the Delta County folder authorized by the Delta County Board of Supervisors this week.

The Chamber Board adopted a budget of $25,500 for the current year, with $1,000 appropriated for Christmas decorations.

The Smith News Agency, William Gasman, owner, was welcomed as a member.

Pat's Geese Are Legal And It's A Wonder

Pat Boddy shot three geese in Portage Marsh Wednesday and posed with them proudly for an Escanaba Daily Press picture published Thursday. The cutlines reported they were all Canadas. Fortunately for Pat they weren't, two were Canadas and one was a snow goose.

The law permits shooting of five geese in a day but "including not more than 2 Canada geese, or, 2 white-fronted geese, or one Canada goose and one white-fronted goose. No open season on Ross' geese or on brant."

Pat may have had the legality of it all figured out while the big birds were approaching his blind, but the game laws get more and more like something for a computer and not a hunter.

Death Claims Mrs. Urich

Mrs. Mary Urich, 80, of 1610 N. 18th St., died at 12:05 a. m., today at St. Francis Hospital. She had been in ill health for the past five years.

Mrs. Urich was born April 21, 1883 in Yugoslavia and came to Escanaba about 1920 where she had lived since. Her husband, Martin Urich, died in 1940.

She was a member of St. Thomas Church and of the St. Thomas Church Guild.

Surviving are one son, Rudolph of Ishpeming; three daughters, Mrs. Frank (Mary) Massard of Escanaba, with whom she made her home, Mrs. Richard (Frances) McMartin of Menomonie Falls, Wis., and Mrs. Aroid (Aloysia) Olson of Waukegan, Ill.; and 12 grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home where friends may call after 3 p. m., Sunday. Liturgical prayers will be offered at 8 p. m., Sunday.

Funeral services will be conducted from St. Thomas Church Monday at 9 a. m., with the Rev. Donald Shiroda officiating. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Briefly Told

Traffic court summons have been issued by Escanaba police to Donald D. Chilson of Newberry for failing to have clearance lights on cab or trailer; and to Robert L. LaMarch, 711 N. 15th St., Gladstone, for speeding.

Milton Embs, administrative assistant of the City of Escanaba, and H. J. Henrikson, Gladstone City manager, are among those who today are attending a meeting of Upper Peninsula city managers at Ishpeming. The speaker is Harold Fisher, Northern Michigan University faculty.

Keith Donald, manager of the office of the Railroad Retirement Board in the Federal Building here, announces that the office will not be open on Monday, Oct. 21. His schedule is the first and third Mondays of each month in Escanaba and his next visit will be on Monday, Oct. 28.

Michael Rudden, 16, of 1618 N. 18th St., suffered a gashed scalp and was treated at St. Francis Hospital late Thursday afternoon. The youth was mowing grass at the Stone House and his head struck a swing-out window when he stood up, cutting the back of his head. He was rushed to the hospital by police who happened by on patrol.

One of every 13 persons in the United States lives on a farm.

The plastic garbage can liners which the U. S. Forest Service uses in its picnic and campground areas in the national forests serve many emergency uses. They were used last spring to package explosive charges which were placed in holes dug in the muskeg of Ogontz Marsh to blast out pools for ducks. They are used at times by foresters caught in downpours as raincoats. They were used recently to wrap cameras, clothing and other wettables on a public relations canoe trip down the Indian River. And of course they're used for lining garbage cans so the content can be emptied easily.

Many Isabella community residents are feeling the water shortage in their well supplies, because of the extended dry season, Henry Legault found it necessary to dig a new well to get a water supply for his large herd of Holsteins and some farmers are watering their cattle only once a day.

FRIEND OF THE COURT, Michael Lalich of Gladstone, was appointed to the office by Governor George Romney in March of this year. He was nominated for the office by Judge Bernard Davidson of Negaunee, judge of the Judicial District. (Daily Press Photo)

Child Support Cases Grow In Delta County

A marked increase in the amounts paid for support of minor children in Delta County has been noted in the past several years, according to Michael J. Lalich, newly appointed Friend of the Court.

He reported that for the first nine months of 1963 (with still three months left to go) a total of $63,780 was paid to his office for the support of minor children.

Lalich made his report during the annual budget meeting of the Delta County Board of Supervisors this week. Based on past receipts the three-month period left in 1963 should net about $17,874 making the total collections for the year about $81,654.

The figure would establish a three-year high. Collections in 1961 were $67,723 and in 1962 they totaled $75,943. Child support payments are sent to the Friend of the Court who records them, deposits the monies in the bank, and issues checks against the accounts as payment to the recipients.

Children Are Concern

Lalich, a former corporal with the Michigan State Police Post at Gladstone, was appointed to the office by Governor George Romney in March of this year following his nomination to the office by Judge Bernard H. Davidson, circuit judge of the 25th Judicial District.

Following creation of the office by statute in 1919 Delta and Marquette Counties shared services of the Friend of the Court. It was later determined that it would be more efficient and effective for each county to have it's own official.

For several years Delta County had a Friend of the Court who filled the office on a part-time basis. However, on April 1 of this year Lalich was appointed to the post on a full-time basis.

His duties primarily include investigations where application has been made for alimony support and maintenance of a wife or minor children, or for the custody of minor children.

Once the application is made the court official investigates the financial ability, occupation and earning capacity of the parties, and if there are minor children involved checks into the home conditions, environment and surroundings of the parties where the children, or are to be, kept.

Arm of Court

Lalich said that as Friend of the Court his duties also include periodic checking of the children to determine whether or not they are being properly cared for and are living under the proper influences. If he feels they are not being cared for properly, then the matter is called to the attention of the court with such recommendations as he may think best for the welfare of the child.

He pointed out that duties of the court officer do not end there. "If a child is removed outside the State of Michigan then it is our duty to make arrangements with a sister state agency for continued supervision. If a satisfactory arrangement cannot be worked out the Friend of the Court notifies the court and may move to discontinue or suspend support payments until proper supervision can be established," he said.

Not only is the Friend of the Court an "arm" of the court, but he is one of the many important aids to the Welfare Department in keeping down payments for dependent children. There is no way of estimating the amount of additional tax monies that would be needed if support payments for minor children ordered in divorce decrees were not enforced.

Lalish said that annually there are between 20 and 50 persons arrested and brought into court for refusing to comply with the court's order for support.

Saves Tax Monies

"Actually," said the court official, "this is not always the action that is taken in such cases. There are some cases where the alimony or support payments have not been made temporarily. It the reason is because the husband is not working or ill, arrangements may be made for reduced payments and later adjustments."

According to Lalich the monies received by his office for the support of minor children has been generally increasing. This he attributed to the number of divorces, as well as the increased costs of living.

Other duties of the Friend of the Court include arranging visitation rights and contacting ex-husbands who fail to make their payments because they feel their rights have been violated. Lalich said these are usually cases where the mother attempts to divert support monies to her own uses and entertainment, rather than for the child's welfare.

There is little doubt that the office has saved many thousands of dollars in tax monies for Delta County, which the county would otherwise have to spend in taking care of minor children.

more than anyone else to restore party unity.

At 10:30 a.m. The palace announced Macmillan's resignation.

Must Form Government

Before the announcement, the queen and her private secretary, Lt. Col. Sir Michael Adeane, went to the hospital and talked for an hour with Macmillan.

Then came the call to Home to go to Buckingham Palace

Only after Home succeeds in forming a government, as the queen asked him to do in selecting him, will he become prime minister. The Macmillan administration remains in power until this time.

Home takes over from Macmillan at a low ebb in Conservative party fortunes. Britain must have a national election for a new Parliament sometime within the next year. Lord Home will select the date.

Many signs indicate that the election may bring a triumph for the Socialistic Labor party of Harold Wilson, out of power for 12 years.

Home was a member of Commons from 1931 to 1945 and from 1950 to 1951, when he succeeded to his father's earldom. Although he had held a variety of government posts, including five years as commonwealth secretary, Macmillan's appointment of Home as foreign secretary in 1960 aroused controversy and ridicule. But Home proved to be an outstanding foreign secretary—lucid, firm and by no means the puppet his detractors expected him to be.

Pat's Geese Are Legal And It's A Wonder

Pat Boddy shot three geese in Portage Marsh Wednesday and posed with them proudly for an Escanaba Daily Press picture published Thursday. The cutlines reported they were all Canadas. Fortunately for Pat they weren't, two were Canadas and one was a snow goose.

The law permits shooting of five geese in a day but "including not more than 2 Canada geese, or, 2 white-fronted geese, or one Canada goose and one white-fronted goose. No open season on Ross' geese or on brant."

Pat may have had the legality of it all figured out while the big birds were approaching his blind, but the game laws get more and more like something for a computer and not a hunter.

The plastic garbage can liners which the U. S. Forest Service uses in its picnic and campground areas in the national forests serve many emergency uses. They were used last spring to package explosive charges which were placed in holes dug in the muskeg of Ogontz Marsh to blast out pools for ducks. They are used at times by foresters caught in downpours as raincoats. They were used recently to wrap cameras, clothing and other wettables on a public relations canoe trip down the Indian River. And of course they're used for lining garbage cans so the content can be emptied easily.

"Actually," said the court official, "this is not always the action that is taken in such cases. There are some cases where the alimony or support payments have not been made temporarily. It the reason is because the husband is not working or ill, arrangements may be made for reduced payments and later adjustments."

According to Lalich the monies received by his office for the support of minor children has been generally increasing. This he attributed to the number of divorces, as well as the increased costs of living.

Other duties of the Friend of the Court include arranging visitation rights and contacting ex-husbands who fail to make their payments because they feel their rights have been violated. Lalich said these are usually cases where the mother attempts to divert support monies to her own uses and entertainment, rather than for the child's welfare.

There is little doubt that the office has saved many thousands of dollars in tax monies for Delta County, which the county would otherwise have to spend in taking care of minor children.

more than anyone else to restore party unity.

At 10:30 a.m. The palace announced Macmillan's resignation.

Must Form Government

Before the announcement, the queen and her private secretary, Lt. Col. Sir Michael Adeane, went to the hospital and talked for an hour with Macmillan.

Then came the call to Home to go to Buckingham Palace

Only after Home succeeds in forming a government, as the queen asked him to do in selecting him, will he become prime minister. The Macmillan administration remains in power until this time.

Home takes over from Macmillan at a low ebb in Conservative party fortunes. Britain must have a national election for a new Parliament sometime within the next year. Lord Home will select the date.

Many signs indicate that the election may bring a triumph for the Socialistic Labor party of Harold Wilson, out of power for 12 years.

Home was a member of Commons from 1931 to 1945 and from 1950 to 1951, when he succeeded to his father's earldom. Although he had held a variety of government posts, including five years as commonwealth secretary, Macmillan's appointment of Home as foreign secretary in 1960 aroused controversy and ridicule. But Home proved to be an outstanding foreign secretary—lucid, firm and by no means the puppet his detractors expected him to be.
